URGE SESSION OF CONGRESS

Call Wanted by Some Leading Democrats; Would Be Useless, Say Republicans.

By The Associated Press

Some highly placed Democrats began beating the drums today for a special session of congress this summer—and a presidential challenge to the Republicans to deliver on their 1948 platform promises.

GOP lawmakers generally were cool to the idea of getting back into harness any time soon

President Truman himself declined to comment.

Senator McGrath of Rhode Island, chairman of the Democratic national committee, told reporters pressure is coming from many people for Mr Truman to call congress back soon after the Democratic convention opening in Philadelphia July 12.

McGrath had just issued a formal blast at what he called the "dismal failure of the GOP-controlled 80th congress. He said people will remember congress' record when they vote in November

Favored by Kenteckian

Rep Spence of Kentucky, ranking Democrat on the house banking committee, said he is one of those in favor of a special session call.

Declaring that "the Republican platform reads like an indictment of the Republican congress," Spence added to newsmen

"The President should call congress back and challenge the Republicans to make good on their platform. He should call upon the Republicans to do something about the high cost of living and about housing "

Senator Sparkman (D - Ala) commented "It would be rather interesting to see the Republicans challenged to deliver on their platform promises which are completely inconsistent with the record of the 80th congress."

Futile, Says Knutson

But Chairman Knutson (R-Minn) of the house ways and means committee had this to say

"Nothing could be accomplished by a special session, because the President would be sure to veto anything we did The American people will just have to wait until Dewey gets into the White House"

Gov Thomas E. Dewey, the top Presidential nominee, said after last months Republican convention he believes it would be an imposition on congress members to call them back at this time.

But McGrath said a special session "is not outside the realm of possibility — it is up to the President to do it."

Mr Truman was asked about the prospects at his news conference yesterday He has the power to call congress at any time All he would say was 'no comment."

Some Democrats Doubtful

Some Democrats are frankly dubious about a special session. One said privately that it might wind up with each party accusing the other of responsibility for inaction

The Democrats are due to get down to the job of writing their own platform next week

EISENHOWER IN GEORGIA BOOM

Democrats Ask Truman To Withdraw, Back Gen. Ike for President.

By The Associated Press

MACON Ga., July 2—Georgia Democrats in a surprise move today swung officially behind Dwight Eisenhower for president and their junior senator Richard Russell, for vice president

At the same time they urged President Truman to withdraw from the 1948 election "to eliminate chaos confusion and revolt within the Democratic party, and for the welfare 'of the nation and the world'

Resolutions committing Georgia on a 1948 Democratic national ticket were approved in rapid order at the state Democratic convention The move developed unexpectedly after a series of hotel conferences last night, taking many delegates by surprise

Leaders said Georgia thus became the first state in the nation to join the Draft-Eisenhower movement openly with support of a state convention

A petition to be sent the former chief of staff urged his acceptance of a draft as "the only proper man to lead the fight for world peace and against Communism, tyranny and slavery

Action in Georgia followed shortly after an Alabama Democratic leader promised positively General Ike would be nominated for president at the Democratic national convention unless he calls a halt.

Georgia delegates to the national parley were instructed to shift to Russell for president if Eisenhower turns down a draft in some new statement

WHITE HOUSE RAIL PAY TALKS ARE RESUMED

Army May Try To Settle Dispute if Steelman's New Move Fails.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 2 - The White House resumed today its efforts to settle the rail wage dispute

Presidential Assistant John R Steelman called union leaders into a morning conference and arranged to meet later with management representatives.

Whether the two sides will meet jointly Press Secretary Charles G Ross said depends upon developments at the separate conferences

If Steelman doesn't have any luck in getting an agreement there's a chance the Army may try for a settlement with the three unions — the locomotive engineers firemen and enginemen and switchmen That prospect arose after the unions were placed under fresh orders against a strike

Justice T Alan Goldsborough granted a permanent anti-strike injunction at the government's request late yesterday That means the 190,000 members of the three railroad unions must stay on the job until their dispute with the carriers is settled

Steelman's efforts have been unavailabe to date This fact plus Goldsborough's ruling focussed new attention on the possible role to be played by Secretary of the Army Royall

Royall testified in Goldsborough's court yesterday that he has "ultimate authority to fix wages and conditions of employment" under President Truman's order seizing the railroads on May 10

The roads were taken over then to head off the strike threatened by the three unions But there was still a threat that the unions would not work for the Army, so the court was asked to issue a restraining order Goldsborough yesterday changed that to a permanent injunction—good until the court decides to dissolve it.

In so doing he held that the railroad workers are government employes and therefore not covered by the Norris - LaGuardia act's restrictions against injunctions in labor disputes

Goldsborough said the case paralleled that of the United Mine Workers in Dec 1946 The supreme court upheld his similar ruling in that case

Companies Reject Lewis Pact and File Charges

By International News Service

WASHINGTON, July 2—Eighteen steel and coal companies refused today to sign the new coal mining contract and filed charges of unfair labor practices against John L Lewis and the United Mine workers

Their stand appeared certain to bring a strike at the so-called "captive" coal mines of the steel companies What the miners will do will become known July 6 when the present mining holiday ends

The contract the steel companies refused to sign is the one Lewis negotiated with major commercial coal mining companies It became effective July 1

The steel companies contend a provision for a union shop is outlawed by the Taft-Hartley act That law permits a union shop if the workers vote for it in a national labor relations board election No such election has been held among the miners

The charges of unfair labor practices were filed with the NLRB

Harry M Moses, negotiator for the captive coal mine operators, said they are "hopeful that immediate action will be taken by the general counsel of the national labor relations board to have this issue judicially determined at as early a date as possible"

All of the major steel companies, including Republic Bethlehem and Jones and Laughlin joined in making the charges

If General Counsel Robert N Denham of the NLRB upholds the charges he may seek a court order to keep Lewis from putting into effect the union shop provision in the contract which became effective for the rest of the industry July 1

Lewis' union newspaper has broadly hinted that the 50,000 to 60 000 miners in the steel-owned mines may not return if the so-called "captive" pits haven't been signed to the new coal agreement by then.

STALIN HEARS YUGOSLAV REDS

Urge Him To Blot Out "Lies and Slander" of the Cominform.

By The Associated Press

Yugoslav Communists urged Stalin today to blot out what they called the absurd "lies and slander" of the cominform against Premier Marshal Tito and the ruling party of his Balkan nation

But Russia was busy building backfires against Tito The cominform—the 9-nation Communist information bureau—moved from Belgrade to Bucharest. Communists in Russia, Albania, Bulgaria, Rumania, Greece, Britain, Hungary, Austria and the United States all rallied around the cominform and its Kremlin rulers.

Yugoslavia stood as firm as ever behind Tito. His Balkan neighbors for the moment didn't talk too big, because Tito has the largest army afoot in that region which has spawned so many wars

The Kremlin its prestige shaken by the Tito case moved slowly The central committee of the Soviet Union's Communist party approved as expected the Cominform attack on Tito and the Yugoslav party The cominform accused the Yugoslav government leaders of a hateful policy toward Russia, flirting with the West and leaving the Marx-Lenin line It appeared unlikely that Stalin or the Russian Communists would be swayed by such an expression as this from a mass

U.S., BRITISH PLANES SOLVE FOOD PROBLEM

Bring More Than Needed to Berlin as Soviet Is Hit by Own Blockade.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, July 2—Secretary Marshall said today the state department is consulting congressional leaders and conferring with Britain and France on dealing with the Russian blockade of Berlin. At a news conference, the secretary of state said American policy is being determined in consultation with Chairman Vandenberg (R-Mich) of the senate foreign relations committee, and Rules (R-NJ) of the house foreign affairs committee.

* * *

By The United Press

BERLIN, July 2 — Russia's starvation blockade of Berlin became a two-edged sword today with the Soviets feeling its effect more than the western powers against whom it was directed

The combined air might of the United States and Britain raised the greatest peacetime air operation of history to a level such that more food was being flown in each day than the 2,500,000 persons in the western sectors of the German capital consume

Arrival of one automobile from the western zone by the autobahn across the Russian Zone gave brief hope that the blockade might already have been relaxed. But it was quickly learned that the Italian driver had a special Soviet permit, and American border guards said there were no signs the Russians planned to ease the border closing

Simultaneously, signs appeared that the blockade weapon had turned back upon the Russians, causing them shortages of flour, penicillin, insulin and streptomycin

The apparent Soviet shortages, revealed by indirect efforts of Russia to barter with the western powers, gave weight to persistent reports that the Soviet authorities soon will ease or end the surface blockade

In near perfect weather, American and British transport planes —mostly American C-54S, shuttled continuously from the western zones of Germany over the Soviet zone to Berlin.

They were accomplishing a feat which even high U S. officers had doubted could be accomplished they were bringing in supplies faster than the western sectors of the city used them up.

Month's Supply Lessened

An American spokesman said that July 15, the air armadas would have flown in sufficient food to maintain the ration in the western sectors for the entire month. That would be in addition to food stocks for one month already on hand here Thus, by the middle of this month, there will be enough food to assure Berliners the present ration until Sept. 1

And still the air effort was building up

U S. and British bombers similar to these which bombed Berlin to rubble soon may join the transport planes One experimental bomber flight already had been made

The bombers it was said, will be loaded with coal and other non-breakable supplies Instead of landing they will fly in at treetop level and drop their cargoes at designated points.

Coal, fuel, and gasoline may take priority over food in the supply effort after mid-July, it was said.

Both of Corpses

"We are concentrating now on dehydrated and compact foods," Col. Frank Howley, U S commandant in Berlin said. "We have had to eliminate such bulky foods as potatoes, but we are bringing in at least an equal amount of concentrated foodstuffs."

The western sectors of Berlin have a 28-day supply of coal on hand for public utilities, and a six-week supply for bakeries, hospitals and food processing plants.

But the Soviet sector was feeling the pinch of a coal shortage. Hard coal for gas and steel production normally has come to the Russians from the Ruhr. This was cut off by Russian closing of the border. And the poorer quality coal from Silesia and elsewhere in Russian occupied territory does not meet the need.

American and British authorities, whose skyway supply line reduced the threat of starvation in the western sectors here, say that if the Russian [illegible]

OX TEAM PASSES THROUGH MARION

Mission Is To Advertise Morrow Centennial.

The first yoke of oxen to pass through Marion in many years arrived at 3:10 p. m. yesterday from Mt. Gilead. Tall, black oxen they were, and their names were Pat and Brandy.

Mission of the oxen and their attendants was to advertise the Morrow County Centennial at Mt Gilead tomorrow, Sunday and Monday, and more specifically the big historical pageant which will be presented at the fairgrounds in Mt Gilead Sunday and Monday nights by a cast of 400 persons.

The oxen were driven by Bert Jordan, of Bechtel Farms, Mt. Gilead. Passengers riding in the ox cart during the tour down Church street, north on Main and West on Center, were Harry Nelson of Mt Gilead, centennial general chairman; Paul Richason of Cardington; Fred Taylor, Mt. Gilead, and Danny Jordan of Bechtel Farms.

When the centennial committee first attempted to borrow a yoke of oxen none could be found Chairman Nelson then selected a list of 100 prominent Morrow countians, called on them, explained the committee's plight, and asked each of the 100 persons to donate $5 for the purchase of a yoke of oxen Each of the 100 responded and Pat and Brandy are the result The yoke of oxen weigh 1,600 pounds and costing $600 they would make expensive eating at 50 cents a pound on the hoof Pat and Brandy are four years old and were selected not for the quality of their meat but because of the impressive spread of their horns which have been equipped with brass knobs over their sharp ends in case they should ever lose their placid natures.

In the 18th Century "pop" was British slang for "pawn" or "hock."

NYC CLAIMS LONGEST TRAIN RADIO SERVICE

By International News Service

NEW YORK, July 2—The New York Central railroad announced today that the nation's longest stretch of train radio telephone service will be inaugurated when its new 20th Century Limiteds go into service late this summer.

The radio telephone service will be put on the 436-mile run between New York City and Buffalo.

Thus, Chicago-bound passengers for seven and a half hours can hold regular two-way phone conversations anywhere through constant radio links between the Centuries and Rail system along the right of ways.

The all new centuries are nearing completion by the pullman-standard manufacturing Co., and with their Diesel-electric locomotives will represent an expenditure of two million dollars each.

Fred H. Baird, general passenger traffic manager, said the railroad plans to extend such radio telephone service on the remaining 935 miles westward, along the Central main line.

The extension would be made through Erie, Pa., Cleveland, Sandusky and Toledo, O., and South Bend and Elkhart, Ind., all the way to Chicago. This will occur when sufficient telephone radio stations along the railroad are available.

Cost of the new phone service will be from a minimum of 30 cents in the local area through which the train is passing, to the regular person-to-person rate for calls day or night outside the local area, minimum for person-to-person calls is 45 cents.

"VOICE OF AMERICA" VIEWS SOVIET FEAR

By The United Press

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., July 2—The Voice of America told the world this week that Russia fears the friendship of the United States more than she fears American enmity, it was disclosed.

An article written for use on the Voice of America broadcasts was published today in the University of Virginia Quarterly Review. Its author was Samuel Flagg Bemis, professor of diplomatic history and inter-American relations at Yale.

Bemis wrote that the United States "has extended an eager hand of friendship to Russia to grasp for the rights of man for the principles of non-intervention, democracy, self-determination and freedom.

We had hoped Russia would grasp that hand for such a sincere handclasp is the only hope for world peace.

But these are not the things that Russia stands for in the world," Bemis wrote. "What she wants is the extension of her opposite principles by revolution if necessary of the rest of the world a world USSR, that kind of united nations."

PICNIC PLACE CHANGED

When the Ladies' Auxiliary to P. of H. T. met Thursday night in the American Legion hall it a change of location of the family picnic set for July 29 was made. The event will be held at Garfield park instead of McKinley park. It was decided. In connection with the meeting a penny supper for the members was held, and it was planned to have another for members and their families at a meeting July 15. Arrangements were discussed for a bake sale at a future date, and Mrs. Grace Bowser was appointed chairman. Her committee will include Mrs. Marjorie Berry and Mrs. Ethel Somerlot.

Love's Perilous Path

By ARLE GARRISON

"CHARLES will understand that the publicity must wait," Philip Verrizen said loftily and I mentally uttered the comment that the great impresario was an optimist indeed. But it was not my province to throw any cold water on the proceedings.

"I shall go for the grant the first thing he sees on hand as Charles wants secrecy. I shall take my own car and Otto over to the warehouse. The custodian is a silent secret man and trustworthy. He will park the grant for me and I myself will carry it to the car. Then we shall return here before I start on again."

I knew that this gesture was something similar to that of a reigning monarch removing his own car and a sleeper into the robing room. I knew too that Mary was unfavorably conscious as I was of the intimateness of the request the performer must put to him. But I loosed a mental bouquet at Olina's technique as she went up to her stepfather with starry eyes uplifted.

"To think of your taking so much trouble for me, Daddy darling," she said. "You don't know how grateful I am."

She kissed him on tiptoes and kissed his cheek. His arms went around her and he returned the kiss warmly.

I am sensible of gratitude he said. I am so glad to do anything for you my dear child.

"I know that," she said, and the knowledge emboldens me to make a daring request of you which will delay the Chief's schedule [illegible] perhaps less than that."

Olga made a quick protesting movement but she did not speak and I was sure that neither her husband nor her daughter noticed the manipulation movement.

Philip's heavy eyebrows contracted but only for the fraction of a second. Then he smiled at his stepdaughter with apparent wholeheartedness.

"Surely you know," he said "that you may ask me anything even to the half of my kingdom. What is it that you wish?"

"It's Noel," she said quickly. "He does not know that we are going to the farm day after tomorrow and he ought to know as soon as possible so that he can arrange things for his absence. We don't dare telephone him—everything is so hush-hush, you wondered."

I caught an astonished exclamation back in time. Was Olina clairvoyant, or super efficient? I knew that she had heard nothing which would have told her of Mary's dilemma.

Don't wonder any longer," her father-in-law said. "Noel's place is right on my way as I go to the warehouse. I shall stop there, give him your message, and go on my way. Is there any message you wish to send him, Mary?"

"Just that one," Mary said. "And thank you so much."

"A mere nothing," her father-in-law said. "And now I really must hurry away."

His remembrances, farewells, however, were cut short and I heard Mary give a tiny sigh of relief as the suite door closed upon him. Then she dashed at Olina, gripped her shoulders, and shook her playfully.

"Are you a witch?" she demanded. "How did you know that I was screwing up my courage to ask my father-in-law the same question you put to him so prettily?"

"I believe I have," Olina retorted. "I saw you looking at him uneasily, knew you wanted to ask him something, and a little exercise of my reason told me what it probably was. I'm glad I guessed correctly, and that you are not angry at me for my presumption."

"Angry at you?" Mary echoed. "You probably saved me from being boiled in oil, or something equally drastic. Remember you're something special these days. You can ask for anything you like and get it. But the rest of us must watch our steps where the Chief and the great impresario are concerned."

"Do you think you really were in danger of Phillip's displeasure?" Olga asked quietly.

But What About the Democrats?

UNLESS Dwight Eisenhower throws a bucket of cold water on the rumor of his availability for a political draft, the Democratic national convention will be a-twitter over that possibility when it assembles in Philadelphia.

All the things Gen. Eisenhower might do for the strife-torn party in one of its darkest hours have been discussed. But there has been a curious lack of discussion about what the strife-torn party might not do for the popular general.

Can any Democrat guarantee that the party would quit fighting in its own ranks and become a political entity if Mr Truman were thrown overboard? Can any Democrat guarantee that the blocs which have deterred the party because it no longer was able to appease their various and conflicting demands would rush back in it?

Would big-city bosses, labor union executives, unreconstructed rebels of the south and other self-proclaimed leaders of supposedly irreconcilable factions lie down together like peaceful lambs? Would they and their late cohorts of the medium and far left all get together like a big happy family at Christmas if Mr. Truman were not present?

If they could do it, the political trick of the 20th century would have been performed.

The Line That Didn't Hold

THE Maginot line fixation dies hard. A New York Times dispatch from Metz, France, says French Army engineers believe the United States should reinforce the line against possible attack from the east.

The line is still there, most of it as good as new. Underground equipment has been repaired, and even the big guns are intact except for the breech blocks which the contemptuous Germans removed. The prize exhibit is "impregnable" Eben Emael, the Belgian fortress which was reduced by a few charges of explosives.

The Maginot line may survive, but only as a memento of an outmoded form of warfare, just as Europe's castles are survivors of an earlier era. There are no lines or strong points in modern war. If resistance is encountered at one place, another point is tested. Strong points "die on the vine" like Japanese on bypassed Pacific islands.

Honoring Walter Reed

THE most recent American to win a niche in New York university's hall of fame is Dr. Walter Reed, the first physician to be admitted to that distinguished company.

Dr. Reed's fame is worldwide and well-deserved. His research proved that the yellow fever parasite is carried by the stegomyia mosquito. His discovery virtually eliminated the disease from the civilized world, hastened the building of the Panama Canal and improved life throughout the tropics.

Dr. Reed also conducted important research in bacteriology. Through his studies, doctors learned more about diphtheria, erysipelas and typhoid fever. He was an excellent teacher, a talented writer and a courtly, kindly man remembered affectionately by those who knew him. Only 51 when he died in 1902, he left more enduring monuments than his likeness in the hall of fame and the great medical center that bears his name. He contributed to man's progress.

Italy's Socialists Decide

ITALIAN Socialists have renounced the united front with their Communist allies by ousting the leaders who led the party in the April election. It was a cautious renunciation, however, for the party congress in Genoa adopted a compromise plan for allowing the new leaders to decide what the future relationship with the Communists will be.

The Communists have been losing power steadily in Italy, home of the largest party unit outside Russia. Christian Democrats now are in decisive control with the united front of the extreme left rendered ineffectual.

However, the Socialists' action means that the party can veer again to the left on short notice unless conditions improve under the present regime. Premier De Gasperi has promised they will improve. Marshall plan aid is helping give him the opportunity to make good that promise. The Socialist action indicates the party has adopted a "wait and see" attitude.

Scanning the Record

By George E. Sokolsky

"Sense and Candor" Takes on New Meaning.

NEVER before has just plain lying been condoned and even extolled. It has happened that the lie has been explained away or rationalized, but it has not been called "sense and candor." Something must be very wrong with our educational system if a young professor of history, the star of Harvard, can delight in the lie and the liar. Yet that is precisely what Arthur M. Schlesinger Jr. does in the New York Times book review, front page, in a discussion of "the Man in the Street," by Professor Thomas A. Bailey of Stanford university.

SOKOLSKY

Professor Bailey, referring to Franklin D. Roosevelt, says:

"Roosevelt repeatedly deceived the American people during the period before Pearl Harbor . . . He was faced with a terrible dilemma. If he let the people slumber in a fog of isolation, they might well fall prey to Hitler. If they came out unequivocally for intervention, he would be defeated in 1940."

On this, young Schlesinger comments:

"On the Roosevelt problem he writes with sense and candor."

And further, he says:

"If he was going to induce the people to move at all, Professor Bailey concludes, he had no choice but to trick them into acting for what he conceived to be their best interests."

For Good Cause?

It is a curiosity of human relations that practically all the men about Roosevelt have questioned his veracity. One assumed that Harry Hopkins was loyal to the last drop, but the Robert Sherwood digest of Hopkins' notes leaves a feeling in the reader that all was not above board with the master. Harold Ickes's comment dittoes. Here is Professor Bailey, who teaches the youth of the country, but who can say that the President of the United States was in a dilemma because he could not decide whether he would tell the people the truth or a lie and he decided to lie—but in a good cause. The good cause, naturally, was that he should not be defeated in 1940 when he ran for a third term. In a word, a lie becomes a virtue when it keeps the old gang in power. That is what Hitler preached.

Now, I never having been a New Dealer, will not go with them as far as to say that their lies was untruthful, generally speaking. That accusation ought to be limited to members of his official family who are more familiar with his characteristics. I simply make the point that Professor Bailey and Professor Schlesinger condone the lie and say it is "sense and candor" and a smart business if it fools the people into electing a candidate for public office.

These professors are apparently practical men. They want the best people in government. Schlesinger says of Bailey:

". . . His conclusions are sensible if not new; we must get our best people into government, we must raise the educational level of our entire population; we should keep our heads in times of crisis and remember that in unity there is strength . . ."

Wonderful Sentiment

Those are wonderful sentiments, but what about liars? John O'Donnell of the New York Daily News and the Washington Times-Herald, who told the truth as the record now discloses, was given an iron cross by President Roosevelt and was held before the nation as a liar and a reprobate. But O'Donnell told the truth and it was Roosevelt who was receiving the people. The professors apparently would still insist that Roosevelt was doing it in a good cause, namely, to get himself reelected.

The logic of their position is difficult to pursue. I suppose Al Capone could, if he hired a foxy enough lawyer and got some professors to act as his apologists, find that he broke the law in a good cause—maybe to maintain order in Chicago. In a society that knows only comparative morality, anything goes if you can get away with it. In fact, one might even land in the White House and stay there if the lie is big enough and is repeated often enough. If that is what our professors are teaching, maybe it would be better if our children did not learn the bitter facts of life from them.

The Winning of Warren

By Raymond Moley

THE nomination of Earl Warren was the outcome of 12 hours of intense negotiation, consultation and cogitation. No one knew, except perhaps Warren himself, whether the California governor would accept second place on the ticket. Warren is slow to make a decision and is, moreover, scrupulous about his obligations to California. Hence, the question was not merely to bring about agreement on a candidate among the various factions. It also involved the consent of Warren himself.

MOLEY

Dewey was the central figure in both proceedings.

As is generally known, Warren was Dewey's first choice in 1944. When Warren reached Chicago in that convention, he was greeted by emissaries of Dewey, who attempted to win his consent to run for the vice presidency. The inducements were; first, to make the job tolerable on the material side and, second, to make it more active and interesting. Dewey suggested that he was not the man to let a person of Warren's administrative capacities rust in the vice president's chair in the senate.

The effort to reach unanimous agreement on a candidate began soon after Dewey's acceptance speech Thursday night. After his return to his rooms in the Bellevue-Stratford around midnight, Dewey summoned representatives of the unsuccessful candidates, together with other influential people. There was no direct representative of Warren present. But the man there who knew most about Warren was Kyle Palmer, veteran political writer of the Los Angeles Times. Throughout the proceedings which ended in the nomination Friday, Palmer was a major figure. He had the full confidence of both Dewey and Warren, although he represented neither. But Palmer was in a position to say positively that, although Warren was not a candidate he would allow his name to go before the convention—if that were the wish of Dewey and if it meant the approval of the party leaders.

Conference Ends at 4 A. M.

The conference in Dewey's room lasted until after 4 o'clock in the morning. Intense concentration prevailed, with Dewey acting not only as moderator but as chief questioner. One name after another was suggested, discussed and eliminated. Palmer was the chief source of information about the California governor and, according to those present, his lucid and objective description convinced the conferees that they had found their man.

Then, at 4:30 a. m. Warren was awakened and invited to come to Dewey's headquarters. No offer of the nomination was made, but Dewey thoroughly explored Warren's reasons for hesitating to take the job. Finally, without any commitment on either side, the situation was clarified.

At 9:30 a. m. the conferees met again, without Warren, and voted their decision. Warren then agreed to run.

—But Have a Wonderful Time

Inflation-Weary Vacationists Are Up Against It.

IN THE remote event that you don't know it already, your vacation in 1948 will cost upward of double the cost of the same vacation taken in 1940.

The family economics bureau of Northwestern National Life Insurance Co. has rounded up the following typical examples of vacation inflation:

A 12-day cruise from New York City to Nassau, Havana and Miami cost as little as $120 in 1940; today it costs $218.50 minimum an increase of 82 per cent. Nearly a third of the increase is transportation taxes, all since 1940.

A 12-day railroad tour from Chicago through Glacier and Yellowstone national parks cost $176.13 in 1940. The same tour takes 11 days this year and costs $291.95, up 66 per cent, with transportation taxes accounting for nearly a fourth of the increase.

A man and his wife can take a two-weeks auto trip of 2,400 miles and get by on about $235 for gasoline, oil, lodgings and meals—57 per cent more than the cost of a 2,400-mile trip in 1940. This assumes that most lodgings will be in auto courts.

Great Lakes cruises are up about 33 per cent since 1940, more than half the increase being due to transportation tax.

There has been about a 95 per cent increase in the cost of clothing since 1940. Fishing tackle is more expensive. Golf clubs have approximately doubled in price.

The family economics bureau warns that even staying at home is no solution. "If you decide to outsmart the price rise of spending your vacation in your back yard, wearing your 1938 clothes," it says, "beware of roasting wieners—they are nearly three times as expensive as in 1940 and wiener buns are up about 90 per cent. You'll have to watch yourself, too, or you'll be toasting marshallows, which are 70 per cent higher today than before the war."

More Steel for Civilization

New Ore Plant Holds Possibilities.

GOOD news for the United States has come out of Duluth, Minn., in the announcement by Pickands, Mather & Co. of Cleveland that it has finished a $1,700,000, ore-extracting plant 50 miles north of there, at Aurora. The plant will be vastly more than just another source of Minnesota ore.

It is designed especially to extract blast furnace iron from inferior ores in the Minnesota iron ranges. For the first time in the momentous history of the steel industry, experimentation with the ultimate source of iron in a steel-hungry world has been taken outside the laboratory.

Specifically, the plant will produce iron pellets fashioned from magnetic taconite ores of the Mesabi Range, in the heart of the nation's prime source of iron ore. The plant will bridge the gap between the ebbing reserves of the highest grade ores found in Minnesota and the almost inexhaustible reserves found not only there but at least 45 other states. It may open up a supply of iron great enough to supply this country for centuries.

Widely Distributed

Iron, despite a common notion that the supply is limited, is the most widely distributed of all strategic minerals. The notion of a limited supply can be traced to the fact the Lake Superior region contains easily accessible ore in great quantities with an iron content running as high as 65 per cent in the Mesabi Range. In the last full year of the war, the Mesabi furnished more than half of all the ore used in the United States.

About 60 per cent of the Mesabi's content of high-grade ore has been used up. At the present rate, all of it would be gone in from 20 to 30 years. The prospect of being deprived of this prime source of a strategic mineral has caused the steel industry deep concern. Alarmists even have predicted that the industry would be forced to move to the coasts, where it would depend on imported ore. Such a move would make ghost towns of the great steel cities of the Great Lakes region.

But alarmists failed to take into account the possibility that science might unlock the iron in the enormous deposits of taconites found in many parts of the United States. And they did not give enough importance to the fact that the steel industry is concentrated in the Great Lakes area not only because of iron ore, but equally because of nearby coal. Their alarmism was more emotional than rational.

Must Be Done

There is room for dispute over what portion of the ore needed after the Mesabi Range has been used up will be extracted from inferior ores in the same region. But there is no room for dispute about the importance of the Pickands, Mather & Co. experimental plant at Aurora. If it can be done, the new plant will show how it will have to be done.

All iron and steel companies have been conducting experiments with low-grade ores with an iron content of less than half that of the rich ores in the best Lake Superior deposits. They are concentrating on the Duluth region because there alone are reserves sufficient for perhaps the next 50 years with reserves elsewhere adequate for centuries.

The Aurora plant will crush and convert into pellets five-eighths of an inch in diameter about 2000,000 tons of concentrated iron annually. These pellets will be suitable for use in full-size blast furnaces. It is estimated that five years may be required to collect conclusive data.

Four facts must be established: (1) what is the cheapest method of treating low-grade ores; (2) what effect will recent technological advances have on them; (3) what modifications must be made in the iron and steel industry to utilize them; (4) how much capital investment is required to permit their use by industry.

The increased cost of using low-grade ores is reported to be the heaviest handicap as the steel industry looks to the future. But there seems to be no escape from increased costs. Transfer of the industry, for example, would be prohibitively costly. Any move that would necessitate a longer haul for coal would be too expensive to be practicable, because several carloads of coal are required to smelt one carload of iron ore.

The Gamble Sisters

"WHAT do you make of that crisis in Berlin?"

"It's awful. What right have the Russians to keep UN out of Berlin without even asking for a poll of the delegation?"

"General Clay thought we should have opened the railroad lines on the second ballot. If it ain't one thing it's another these days."

"Why are the Russians acting that way anyhow?"

"It's a stop-Bevin movement. But let's talk about things at home. How do you like the Republican ticket?"

PHILLIPS

"Fine. Dewey and Stymie will make a great team."

"It's Dewey and Warren."

"Warren Harding or Warren Wright?"

"Just Warren Warren. I think. He's a big California movie man or something."

"I thought Earl Stassen might get it."

"He did pretty well for ten rounds but in the eleventh he made the mistake of mixing it."

• • •

"Do you thing the GOP will win the election?"

"Win or lose, Dewey says this will be his last fight. He's going into the soft-drink business."

"Who will the Democrats put up?"

"Gus Lesnevich, they say."

"What did you think of the heavyweight prize fight?"

"Joe Louis could have won quicker if it hadn't been for all those caucuses and the interruption for songs by James Downey and Morton Melton."

"Walcott did pretty well up to the recess."

"Yeah, but he didn't have enough pledged delegates."

• • •

"What do you make of that refusal of Congress to put up the money for that home for the United Nations to replace the present Madison Square Garden?"

"I think the old fight arena is good enough, but I think they should cut out wrestling."

"But New York has torn down the buildings covering four or five blocks to make way for the new place."

"Yeah. They took down everything but the Aquarium and that's going next."

"What's new in China?"

"Chiang Kai-shek just got a copy of Joe Stilwell's book and lost four more cities."

The National Association of Retail Grocers is told by the meat packing industry that meat soon will be marketed in packages and made as accessible as cigarets. We await the first indorsement of a lamb chop as curing throat irritation.

A national survey by grocers reveals that the three favorite foods of the public in the order named are steak, potatoes and apple pie. The survey must have been taken among the rich exclusively.

General Eisenhower got an honorary degree from Yale the other day. We trust the parade took him through Dwight street.

We hear that while at Yale for his degree, General Eisenhower was appealed to by a lot of returning grads for advice on how to make a break-through and attain an objective like Mory's Bar at the height of Commencement high jinks.

Farmers

By TRUMAN TWILL

ALL farmers used to be horny-handed citizens who got up at dawn to look for early worms and were so bushed by dusk that they climbed on the roost with the chickens to get a head start on a good night's sleep.

Their backs were bent with honest toil, also their wives' backs because farm marriages were partnerships of unremitting toil, including the bearing of numerous children to help with the chores, such as keeping the weeds out of the corn and the cows out of the garden patch.

Farmers always had enough to eat, unless they lacked gumption, which was the ability to live close to the land, keep their noses on the grindstone and their hands on the plow. Farming was a kind of religion, practiced 24 hours a day, 365 days a year, with an extra day in leap years.

But there have been improvements. There now are two kinds of farmers—dirt and gentleman. Before calling a citizen who lives on a farm a farmer, it is wise to find out what kind of a farmer he is on penalty of getting a sock in the eye for putting him in the wrong classification.

The gentleman farmer also believes in living close to the land, but not close enough to get it under his fingernails. He believes in keeping his hand to the plow, provided the plow is an improved model, tractor-drawn and operated only on weekends and holidays, as far as he's concerned.

The gentleman farmer believes in the chickens going to bed early so the pesky things will be out of the way when he strolls over his fruitful acres in the twilight, waiting for visitors to drive up to inspect the farm; otherwise, the chickens might get run down. He is an advocate of going after early worms, but he has a piece of machinery guaranteed to get 85 per cent of them.

The gentleman farmer is a conservationist, a strong advocate of rebuilding the resources of the land by putting back into it some of the money taken out by generations of one-way farming. He does this to the extent of his ability to look the Bureau of Internal Revenue straight in the eye when he makes out his income tax. It is to his credit that he's willing to take the trouble.

He knows all there is to know about farming because he has read a book, but please do not expect him to milk a cow. There's a machine for that, too. And do not expect him to chop wood, pitch hay, or hoe corn, except on an avocational basis. He has found out how to take the drudgery out of farm work. He has learned how to make life on the farm just as pleasant as life anywhere else, if not more so. All it takes is money—lots of it.

When they build a monument to the gentleman farmer in honor of his contribution to American agriculture, they should include his wife and children, who dictated the terms whereby life on the farm finally has been made a little better than life in town.

HITLER'S OWN CAR ARRIVES IN U. S. Hitler's personal car, in which he toured conquered areas of western Europe in 1940, becomes property of Christopher G. Janus of Chicago, who waves happily from driver's seat as car sits on a New York dock where it arrived from Sweden. Hitler gave it to Finland's Marshal Mannerheim as a present. Mannerheim sent it to Sweden for safekeeping. Janus got it in a deal involving machinery instead of cash. The 330-h.p. armor-plated vehicle—a Mercedes-Benz—weighs 8,000 pounds, has three-inch bullet-proof glass, machine-gun compartments in all four doors. Janus plans to tour it for benefit of children of war-ravaged nations.

Held at the Wyandot county jail are Calvin Plot of Carey, and Harold Davis of Fostoria, who were apprehended by Deputy Karl Stansbery. Held at Findlay is Linus Krom of Carey.

Plott and Davis have been arraigned in the mayor's court in this county and bound over to the grand jury under $1,000 bond each, while Krom has been bound over under like bond at Findlay.

REPORTS ALARMING TEACHER SHORTAGE

By The Associated Press

BOWLING GREEN, O., July 2—The National Commission on Teacher Education and Professional Standards takes a gloomy view of the elementary teaching situation.

The commission released a survey yesterday to 600 American educators attending the National Conference on the education of teachers. Here's the situation for 1948 as shown by the survey:

The nation's elementary schools will have 500,000 more pupils in September but will be short 150,000 qualified teachers.

"We are just not producing elementary teachers in anything like the numbers we need," said the author of the report, Dean Ray C. Maul of Emporia (Kas.) State Teachers college.

"That's the big problem, even though girls entering these schools would do so with the assurance of demand for their services and stable employment."

Dr. Ralph McDonald of Washington, the commission's executive secretary, told the conference that 20,000 elementary teachers would be required to care for the increased enrollment of 500,000, and $3,000 needed to replace part of the 700,000 teachers holding substandard state teaching certificates.

Boy Plays Train, Causes Crossing Traffic Jam

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., July 2—A bell in the watchman's tower at the New York Central railroad's Oakland Park avenue crossing just kept on ringing.

Motorists stopped, looked and listened. Soon there was a traffic jam. Motorists were grateful because no train was in sight.

Finally, some one rounded up the lower hadn't been used for some time.

The police swore. They found a 10-year-old boy in the tower vigorously ringing a noisy old bell.

"I was just playing train," he told police, adding he was sure the "engineer didn't care."

GARDEN CLUB HOST TO 300

Annual Conference of 7th Ohio District Highlights Club's Summer Season.

A highlight of summer activities for the Marion Garden club was the entertaining of more than 300 women from District No. 7 of the Ohio Association of Garden Clubs Tuesday at Central Christian church. The occasion was the annual conference of garden clubs in the district.

The meeting got under way with registrations at 9:30 a. m. Rev. Eldred Johnston pastor of Central Christian church, spoke the invocation and Mrs Fillmore Young, district regional director presided. Speakers included Arthur R Smith Marion county farm agent, Hershel Hecker from the U. S. department of agriculture and soil conservation, and F W Dean of Wooster who is associated with the federal department of forestry.

Mr Hecker spoke on conservation from pioneer days to the present time and quoted from a speech made by George Washington in which the first president said "I have been considering the exhausted state of my fields and the decreasing fertility of farm lands everywhere. How much more delightful to the mind is the task of improving the earth than all the vain glory which can be acquired from ravaging it."

Mr Dean gave a talk on native trees of Ohio and named 40 or more native flowering trees. Ohio has twenty-six and one-half million acres of land of which 23 million were originally forest, he said. Mr Dean took the women for a short tour of the church gardens identifying and answering questions regarding the many varieties of trees and flowering shrubs.

Following the morning session lunch was served in the gardens. Mrs Goldie Swope accordionist, and Mrs Ann Brown violinist, in gypsy costumes strolled through the garden playing a repertoire of appropriate music for the style show which was the outstanding feature of the day. Mrs Donald Gunder directed the show and Mrs John Peacock was the announcer. Mrs Gunder wore a black silk shantung cocktail suit with a large black lace picture hat and a corsage at the waistline of her suit was pure white roses. Mrs Peacock wore a vari-colored striped silk dress with brown accessories. Mrs John Waddell was dressed in a formal black crepe afternoon costume with an unusually full drapery over the hipline and carried a black satin quilted bag the base of which was garlanded with yellow Eclipse roses.

Mrs Maurice Cornell was in a black linen afternoon dress with a wide double bertha in pale pink linen and wore a fine straw picture hat multicolored shoes in pastel shades. Her corsage was of multicolored pastel sweet peas worn at the waistline.

Mrs. Jack Bray was dressed in a fine chambray in pale blue and wore a picture hat. She had a corsage at the waistline of her dress of rose colored George Washington plume.

Mrs Joseph Yarnutell was gowned in a white taffeta formal with gold slippers. She carried a pink taffeta muff with floribunda roses on muff and the same roses outlining the off shoulder neckline of her gown.

Miss Mary Joe Stafford wore a white linen tailored suit with brown and white spectators and a small brown and white hat. Her corsage was of blue bachelor buttons and Marguerites.

Mrs Clare Williams was in a white crepe dinner dress with a gold metallic braided girdle and gold evening slippers. Her corsage was of day lilies accented with wheat and dark green myrtle leaves.

Mrs George Howser modeled two costumes. A brown and white plaid backless fine gingham with a wide square collar of white pique and brown and white accessories. Her flowers were carnings of daisies. Her other model was a vividly colored print jersey formal. She had a wreath of red geraniums across the back of her hair.

Mrs Rodney Cox wore a black strapless ballerina model. Her flowers were pink rambler roses worn as a necklace. They were woven on plastic chain.

Mrs Robert Maynard was also in black a crepe cocktail gown. She wore a black Milan picture hat with calendulas garlanded under the brim.

Mrs Robert Vance was in a blue linen sunback dress with bolero jacket and wore a white straw hat with all-white accessories. White daisies outlined the lapels of her bolero.

Mrs James Woods Jr. wore a linen afternoon suit of royal blue, a large black picture hat with a ribbon band of the same blue as her suit, black accessories and a shoulder corsage of coreopsis.

The junior models were Candace Cox and Jill Howser. Candace wore a blue and white taffeta pinafore. Her hair was in braids tied with red geraniums. Jill was in a soft pink organdy party dress with pink embroidered ruffles and carried a colonial bouquet.

The afternoon session was opened by Mrs Thomas Wolfe of Athens president of the Ohio Association of Garden Clubs who spoke on the work accomplished in the past year by the garden clubs of Ohio. There are at present 18,400 garden club members and new units are being formed each month, she stated.

Mrs J Lewis Jones of Toledo spoke on "Pollination" her subject being "A Journey into the Hearts Inside Your Flowers and Mine by the Bees and Insects." She demonstrated this with many colored drawings of various flowers grown in a common garden.

The Intermediate Chorus from Emanuel Lutheran church under the direction of Miss Wanda G McMahan sang. The choristers were Jane Leffler, Anita Kaebler, Jane Simpson, Rosalyn Kaebler, Jean Uncapher, Barbara McWherter, Jane Uncapher, Barbara Soltz, Phyllis Corbin, Nancy Curren, Beverly Norton, Joanne Curren, Norma Jean Beal, Janice Matson, Roberta Heninger, Joyce Matson, and Madelyn Willey.

INVITE UNION HEADS TO DEMOCRATIC HALL

By The United Press

The Democratic national committee with an eye on the powerful labor vote has invited four top-ranking union leaders to address the party's convention, it was revealed today

Invitations have been sent to William Green and Philip Murray presidents of the AFL and CIO respectively Dan Tobin head of the AFL Teamsters' union the nation's largest and A. F Whitney president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen

Green and Tobin called at the White House within the last week But both were coy about whether they intend to support President Truman in November Tobin, a delegate to the Democratic convention in 1940 and 1944, refused a seat this year

The speaking invitations were regarded as a Democratic bid for the support of labor's multi million-dollar political war chest and its ward-and-precinct organizations to 'get out the vote'

Intent on repealing the Taft-Hartley law and defeating its congressional supporters labor unions are campaigning as never before The AFL through its new educational and political league hopes to influence some 30 000 000 votes The CIO political action committee has set itself a goal of getting a vote of 60,000 000—12 000 000 more than in 1944

TREASURY HANGS UP BIG SURPLUS RECORD

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON July 2 Secretary of Treasury Snyder said today the government's true budget surplus for the fiscal year 1948 was $8 419 469 843 81, by far the biggest in history

Snyder said the figure represents 'the actual excess of receipts over expenditures in the fiscal year which ended June 30

By congressional reckoning it would be $3 000 000 000 less Snyder said reflecting what he called a 'bookkeeping switch' ordered by congress in its closing moments

What congress did was to direct the treasury to take $3 000 000 000 from the last fiscal year's surplus and set it up on the books as an advance credit against spending in the 1949 fiscal year The money was placed to the credit of the European Recovery program yesterday It will be spent as needs of the program arise

Easing of Blockade Hinted

The Soviet News bureau hinted yesterday that the blockade might be eased soon. Marshal Vasily D Sokolovsky voiced hope this week that it would be lifted before existing food stocks run out Such reports persisted although, the forecasts lacked any official confirmation

On the other side of the picture a brusque announcement that the allied Kommendatura no longer exists' wiped out the last vestige of four-power administrative machinery and Gen Lucius D Clay the American military governor said bluntly in Frankfort that present conditions in Germany are very serious'

Col Boris Kotnun Soviet chief of staff dealt the death blow to the Kommandatura the four-power council for the governing of Berlin He announced that Soviet representatives no longer would attend its meetings and finally that there no longer was a Kommandatura

Col Frank L. Howley the American representative said the western powers might continue the Kommandaura on a three-power basis The matter will be decided soon he added

BERLIN RADIO BEAM TROUBLE PROBED

By The Associated Press

BERLIN July 2 — U S air force officers said today they are investigating possible Soviet interference with the radio beam used by American pilots flying food to blockaded Berlin

The air force officials said radio beam interference over the Soviet occupation zone temporarily pulled American pilots off their courses from the west last night

The Americans said the Russians might claim deviations from course as violations of the air corridors over the Soviet zone now the lifeline to Berlin for the western powers

The operations officer at Tempelhof airbase said several pilots who flew through the American corridor between Frankfurt and Berlin last night reported they were pulled off course by a strange beam which affected their electrical compasses They were drawn eastward of Berlin but all eventually made landings at Tempelhof Airdrome in the American sector of the city

American officials indicated the British-American air lift is beating the Soviet food blockade They said by July 15 the service will have bolstered the western sectors food stocks enough to assure supply for 2 000 000 Germans until Sept 1

BUS STRIKE HALTED AT STEUBENVILLE

By The Associated Press

STEUBENVILLE O July 2— A truce was called today in the strike of AFL bus drivers which has deprived 85 000 Ohio Valley residents of public transportation for 25 days

Union leaders issued a call to 127 striking drivers to return to their jobs and keep buses rolling for the next 13 days pending a final settlement of their wage demands on the Valley Motor Transit Co

The Steubenville city council turned the key which unlocked part of the sealed traffic situation last night with approval of a fare hike measure The third reading of the ordinance granted an extension of an eight-cent rate which was due to be cut to seven cents

Similar action by the East Liverpool council earlier this week provided hope for an early settlement of the walkout, which paralyzed public transportation in more than 20 communities in Ohio Pennsylvania and West Virginia

W W Powell federal labor conciliator said the two councils would consider further action during the next 10 days on an additional fare hike requested by Valley Motor

The firm offered a 16-cent hourly pay raise plus improved working conditions to the striking AFL Amalgamated Association of Street Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes The offer was acceptable to the drivers but the company said it would be necessary to charge higher fare rates to pay for the new contract meeting of 15 000 Yugoslav Communists

Says "Love Unlimited'

"Take off these false accusations that were slung at the whole country party and central committee Our love toward you and the whole Soviet Union and everything you did for humanity is unlimited as well as our belief that you will do everything in your power that the truth will be brought out in a very short time'

The Yugoslav Communists parlayed their appeal to Stalin with another telegram expressing faith in Tito and the Yugoslav party

May Aid Greeks

Some American officials expressed worry lest the crisis in Yugoslavia might raise such a feeling of insecurity in Russia that the Soviets might take desperate steps Greece appeared likely to benefit from the split in the Balkans since Yugoslavia Albania and Bulgaria all had been aiding Greek rebels Markos Vafiades the Greek Communist leader, thumped for the cominform

Some diplomats in western Europe expressed belief Tito might keep Russia so busy that pressure on the west would be eased and fear that the cold war might turn hot would diminish They said Tito might be playing for a free hand for economic deals with the West The fact remained, however that Yugoslavia still was Communist and a Communist state seemed unlikely to get access to the money assigned from the U S treasury to rebuild Europe

STATEN ISLAND

EIGHTY - TWO - YEAR - OLD Capt. Charles Chase sits and hes with watery blue eyes the that first called at the age

[illegible] me no more [illegible] it has life and his daugh[illegible] he's through with it now [illegible]

Capt. Chase, a man who knew science of putting canvas at the wind, was crowded men who had learned the [illegible] of engines and turning [illegible]

[illegible] never had [illegible] use for [illegible] and I [illegible] don't," he [illegible] stubbornly. [illegible] a veteran [illegible] crew of sail [illegible] I have [illegible] are only [illegible] Captain George [illegible] 91 — [illegible] the 400 [illegible] mariners [illegible] g at the HAL BOYLE [illegible] Snug Harbor" here, a [illegible] old sails.

[illegible] others aren't sailors — just poor old crippled [illegible] said Capt. Chase. [illegible] nks neither the seamen nor [illegible] ns of today measure up to [illegible] the days of the clippers [illegible] ran away himself from his [illegible] home at 12 to work under sail. He was in the Pacific island trade.

"I loved sail and I guess I stayed with it too long," he said. "When I turned from sail to steam it was too late. I never did get to understand steam."

Capt. Chase spends his time now carving models of the graceful ships with crowding sails in which he spent his life.

"I REMEMBER THERE used to be three to five ships leave San Francisco every day," he said. "They were small ships—only about 160 feet long. We used to have two to three hundred pigs and maybe half a dozen mules on deck. About the third day the deck would be covered with flies, and the passengers'd begin to complain.

"The only way we could get rid of the flies was to stand to against the wind. That'd blow most of 'em off.

A sailor's life then was a cruel and prolonged duel with weather and hardship.

"O' course it was rough," mused the old captain. "Rough beyond anybody's knowing today. You wouldn't believe the truth of it. But being young and liking it as a lot of us did—well, I can't set here and tell you it was too bad.

"I'd like to see sail come back. But I know it never will.

CAP'N CHASE MADE money seafaring and lost it later through bad investments. He says he had only one regret in his life.

"We were coming home from China once," he said. "I had my wife and baby daughter, Maude, aboard. The baby was only 3½ years old. In those times whole families was born and raised aboard ship.

"We'd run through a storm. O' those cold nor'west winds a-blowin' down. When it calmed, my little girl came toddling out on deck. I picked up and hugged her to me, forgettin' my wet clothes.

"A couple hours later my wife came up and said the baby had caught cold. I went below. My baby was terribly sick. She died that night of pneumonia."

THE NEXT DAY HE gave his daughter to the sea.

"All the years since then I been wondering whether it was my fault she caught cold," said the captain.

He looked around his small room.

"I been here eight years," he said. "It's a nice place. We're all better off here. Young people don't like to have old people around.

But old people don't like to have young people around either do they?" he was asked.

"Only the small children," said Capt. Chase. "On I tell you I do miss the children!"

Juvenile Judge Speaks At Service in Waldo

Moving pictures on the subject were shown. A program was in charge of Miss Hazel Clunk and her Sunday school class. George Smith presided. Recitations were given by five children, a skit included eight and a group of more than 20 participated in a candlelight service. "Give Us the Light," written and arranged from Scripture by Miss Clunk. Estimate Logan Elm Has 200-Foot Spread

ASHLEY—Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Carlisle visited relatives of Mrs. Carlisle at Chillicothe and in Vinton county recently. They stopped at the famous Logan elm, and found that time is taking its toll of the old landmark. A huge steel post has been set about eight feet from the tree and limbs are anchored to it.

A man who was one of a party visiting the spot "stepped off" the distance from the tree trunk to the end of the farthest-reach limb, and found it to be 90 feet. This would indicate that the spread of the tree is about 200 feet, considering the trunk, it was agreed.

OHIO DEMOCRATS DESTRICT ACTIVITY

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., July 2—Ohio Democrats plan to have only an information office at the party's national convention opening in Philadelphia July 12.

Albert A. Horstman of Dayton, the state Democratic national committeeman, wouldn't say yesterday why original plans to have a state headquarters in the Ben Franklin hotel had been cancelled.

Other spokesmen, however, said the Ohio organization "does not have the money."

Horstman said the Ohio delegation had not discussed possible vice presidential candidates. He said they would hold their meeting in Philadelphia July 12 to distribute credentials.

The Buckeye delegation's 58 votes are pledged to W. A. Julian of Cincinnati, U. S. treasurer, on the first ballot. But, he said, they will go to President Truman even on the first ballot if he is to be the nominee.

Ohio support will be thrown to the presidential nominee's choice for the vice presidential spot, Horstman indicated.

In Case You Get Poison Ivy

PICNICS and outings are pleasant and healthful summer activities, but much of their benefit is lost if you bring home a case of poison ivy as a souvenir

The best way to avoid ivy poisoning, of course, is to steer clear of the deceptively-pretty plant whose contact with the skin causes the skin to break out in a severe, itching rash with blisters. To do this you must be able to recognize the plant when you see it Even if you stumble onto it unawares, knowing the plant is still an advantage, for usually the worst effects of ivy poisoning can be prevented by prompt and thorough scrubbing with soap and water

Once the skin rash has developed, it may be quickly soothed by using a greaseless, non-staining ointment containing sodium perborate

Treatment with this ointment will not interfere with the patient's usual activities. The fluid in the blisters is absorbed in three or four days, and the skin inflammation cured within a week.

The ointment contains phenol and methol as well as the sodium perborate It is applied to the affected area of the skin every two hours

The sodium perborate seems to have good effects, because when it is moistened by perspiration, oxygen is gradually released, and this oxygen tends to destroy the substances from the poison ivy which causes the skin inflammation.

The ointment gradually loses its strength if it is allowed to stand, and should be discarded five to seven days after it has been made up

If large blisters form in the ivy poisoning, hospital care often is advisable In the hospital, a solution of sodium perborate can be used, alternately with the application of ice bags to the inflammed skin.

In about one out of ten instances, the sodium perborate ointment is not effective. In these instances, it is suggested that compresses of potassium permanganate solution be used. Weak solutions are necessary because the potassium permanganate may be irritating to the skin. Potassium permanganate also has the disadvantage of staining whatever it comes in contact with.

Some persons are particularly susceptible to ivy poisoning. Such individuals should make every effort to keep out of contact with the ivy plants Injections of an extract taken from the poison ivy may be helpful to these susceptible persons Of course, such treatment can only be given by a physician who will also determine in just what cases it may be needed.

Questions and Answers

P J M. I have a soreness and a hard swelling at the base of my spine which has been there for two months. Could this be a tumor or cancer

Answer: The swelling is possibly due to a conditono known as a pilonidal cyst This is a congenital condition which appears at the end of the spine and becomes quite sensitive to the touch At first there may be a small swelling like a boil, which eventually breaks and drains out some secretion However, this does not heal like a boil but keeps recurring It is not likely that the swelling is due to a cancer However, examination by your physician should be carried out, and an X-ray of the lower spine taken to aid in diagnosis

Gayle lost his last hope of escaping the wooden chair yesterday Gov Thomas J Herbert declared he would not intervene.

The kidnap-slaying came two years and nine months after Gayle won parole from a prison term for another slaying

In Plain Words

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

UNCLE SAM is banning courses of training or education for veterans who want them just for the fun of it.

That doesn't mean a ban on anything that is intended to help a veteran make a living

If you're a veteran it might be a good idea to read this carefully so you'll get an idea of what you can and can't do from now on

Start from the beginning

Under the GI bill of rights, veterans — at government expense— have been able to take all kinds of courses and training

They include not only college educations but things like dancing, photography glider-flying pilot-training, bartending, personality development, banjo playing, singing, public speaking

James Marlow

Some of the courses pretty clearly have been for fun or some other reason not connected with making a living

About 11 months ago the U S budget bureau started an investigation of "avocational" training courses.

(An "avocational" training course is one not essential to a veteran's job goal)

The bureau made a report which said, in effect that some schools were offering courses purely for "recreational social and leisure-time pursuits

The bureau made its report to President Truman And in his budget message to congress last January Mr Truman said this fun-training was costing the taxpayers a lot of money

He asked congress to re-examine the basic purposes of the GI bill of rights and make what changes it thought should be made

CONGRESS MADE SOME changes to this extent

It said the veterans administration after June 30 1948 should not pay for any GI training which the VA decides is avocational or recreational

(Veterans who enrolled for such courses before June 30 can finish them but no new ones can be undertaken)

But the problem is what's avocational or recreational? For example

One man may want to learn dancing just to be a social lion another may want to learn it so he can make a living teaching it

One man may want to learn photography as a hobby another may want to make a living at it

ONE MAN MAY WANT to learn how to mix drinks so he'll be a good host at his own parties another may want to learn so he can make a living as a bartender

One man may want to learn to be a pilot just for the thrill another may want to learn so he can make a living flying or use flying in his business

Where is the line drawn there? Who decides?

The veterans administration will have to do the deciding in each case when a veteran applies for such training

At this point that's about the best answer that can be given in other words

If you're a veteran and want to take up something that is listed as avocational or recreational but you really want to use it in connection with your work, you'll have to convince the VA of that

If the VA decides you really want the training to help you make a living it will let you go ahead and take it at government expense

DISCLOSE ATOMIC RAY CAN DESTROY CROPS

By The United Press

NEW YORK, July 2 - Evidence that the deadly rays from an atomic bomb could destroy, or seriously damage, the food crops of an entire nation was presented today.

The evidence came from a group of scientists at Cornell university, Ithaca, N Y., who reported on experiments with corn seed that was exposed in the Bikini atom bomb test just a year ago.

These scientists L F Randolph, A E Langley, and Ching Hsiung La, found that the plants resulting from the exposed seeds were scrawney, damaged leaves, dead tissue and a deficiency in chlorophyll—the substance that makes the plant have that green, fresh look.

Reporting in the magazine Science, official publication of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the Cornell group said two types of corn—commercial and certified—were used in the Bikini test and subsequent planting.

The corn seed, they reported, was air dried, placed in 25 moisture-proof packets, each containing from 1,500 to 2,500 seeds of the two kinds, and sealed in mayon rolls before being placed aboard the S.S. Burlinson for transfer to Bikini.

For the exposure, the seeds were distributed on 22 ships in the target area, ranging in distances up to almost a mile from the target ship.

Autos Agency Cannot Limit Use of Car Sold

By The Associated Press

YOUNGSTOWN, O., July 2—A common pleas judge has ruled here that an automobile agency cannot enforce an agreement for a first option on buying cars which it has sold earlier to customers.

Judge David G. Jenkins returned the ruling against the James A. Henderson Co. He ruled that once a title has changed hands "a maker of ordinary property cannot restrict its future use."

Attorneys for Henderson filed the suit which, they said, was designed to fight the automobile black market and keep down used car prices. Henderson testified he wanted to prevent the resale of new cars at "fantastic prices."

OSU ADMINISTRATOR SPEAKS TO KIWANIS

J. P. Taylor, Business Manager, Talks on University.

"A Portrait of an Institution" was the subject of the talk given by Professor Jacob P Taylor of Columbus, business manager of Ohio State university, at the Kiwanis club weekly luncheon meeting Thursday at Hotel Harding.

Speaking regarding Ohio State university and its problems of the past and present day, Prof Taylor stated that Ohio State is now in its 79th year as a university and has an active alumni association. He explained that Ohio State, like other state universities, is owned and operated by the taxpayers of the state Prof Taylor pointed out that the university has been confronted with an enrollment situation in recent years. The university enrollment which formerly stood at an average of 13,000 was increased in recent years to 28,000 students, 14,468 of whom are veterans. Prof Taylor said he believes the peak enrollment has been reached.

PROF. JACOB P. TAYLOR

Capacity Taxed

He said that Ohio State in the past two years has turned down no application from any Ohio boy who wished to enter the university and had satisfactory credentials. The high enrollment has taxed the capacity of the institution. He explained that new temporary buildings for classrooms are underway, and other building plans are in the hands of architects. Additions that are being studied are to the hospital, library, electrical engineering, college of agriculture, cancer hospital, 600-bed teaching hospital, addition to dental school and a pediatrics hospital. He declared that that program which is being made and planned by the university should make the state of Ohio justly proud.

Prof Taylor was introduced by Robert T Mason, program chairman. Business manager of the university since February, 1946, Prof Taylor has the responsibility of the general financial operations of the university and of operation and maintenance of the physical plant.

Five Inducted

Five new members were inducted into the club in a ceremony in charge of Anson Pickerel, a member of the education committee. Taken into the club were C. Raymond Smith, Chas. E. Welch, Erwin L. Mitchell, Arthur L. Stine and Richard Dunn.

Tickets for sale for the baseball game to be held July 20 between Marion and Bucyrus for the benefit of the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs underprivileged and child welfare work were distributed to the members. Ray Bainbridge is serving as general chairman for Kiwanis, and Leonard Young is chairman in charge of tickets.

An announcement was made of the monthly meeting of the board of directors and committee chairmen to be held Tuesday at 6:30 p. m. at Greenwood Inn.

Isadore Birnbaum of Lorain was a guest.

Portsmouth A's Give New Manager Frank Kristie Ungracious Welcome

Drub Cubs, 12-1, Scoring 7 Runs Off Jim Edger in First Inning

PORTSMOUTH, July 2—It was an ungracious welcome to the Ohio-Indiana league that the Portsmouth Athletics gave Marion's new manager, Frank Kristie, here last night as they exploded with 16 hits to outslug the Cubs, 12 to 1.

Zabe Bekesa's successor turned in a nice job at first base and connected for a double in his first time up but the Portsmouth bats were hot and the Cubs seemed unable to do anything about it.

Jim Edgar walked three men and allowed four hits to give the A's seven runs in the first inning before Frank Marchelli came to his rescue. A double, a single and a homer gave the host club three more runs in the second. The four-bagger was by left fielder Forrest Reade—his second in two nights.

Manager George Staller homered over the extreme right field wall on the first pitch that came his way in the fourth and Johnny Moore brought in the 12th Portsmouth run with a seventh-inning double.

The Cubs' lone marker came in the sixth when Lee Bohlander singled, reached second on a walk, advanced to third on a wild pitch and made it home on Bill Bolduc's infield out.

Neither Marchelli nor the Athletics' 6-foot, 7-inch right hander Bob Davis, gave any bases on balls. Davis kept the hitting situation pretty well in hand, allowing no more than one safety in any inning. It was his seventh victory in 10 games to date.

Catcher Tom Getts made his first appearance in the lineup since breaking his thumb when the Cubs were last in Portsmouth nearly a month ago. He replaced Stan King behind the plate when the latter experienced some difficulty controlling the ball. King has been bothered with a sore arm.

Cincinnati Bows to Pittsburgh Pirates, 5-2.

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, July 2 — The St. Louis Cardinals came here today for a three-game series with the Cincinnati Reds and an attempt to hoist themselves into first place on the 4th of July.

For the Cincinnati Reds, now in seventh place, it means a battle to remain out of the league cellar. The Redlegs are only a half game ahead of the Chicago Cubs.

The Reds split a two-game series with the Pittsburgh Pirates, but did it the hard way. They went 14 innings to win a night game 6-5, and then bowed 5-2 in a day game yesterday.

Aging Fritz Ostermueller held the Reds to six hits in the nine innings and didn't give a pass. The Reds got only two men to third base, Danny Litwhiler, who homered in the third, and Bobby Adams, who scored in the eighth after a single, two infield outs and another single. It was Litwhiler's fifth homer.

Herman Wehmeier, who started the season strong with five wins, was rapped heavily by the Pirates. He started out wild, walking the first two men, and then was touched for nine hits and six walks in six and two-thirds innings. Walker Cress and Tommy Hughes came in for relief.

Slim Shillings To Pilot Horses In Races Here

When the lights go on at 8:15 Monday night the fairgrounds and the Marion Little Grand Circuit harness races begin, watch for six feet three inches of racing driver known as "Slim."

Slim Shilling is the leading harness horse driver in Ohio and the middle west today. At the last report from Hilliard where he is now racing, he had averaged better than one win a night.

Through the entire Marion raceway meeting from July 5 to 24 the gold and blue Shilling colors should get their share of the spotlight in the winner's circle. Double and triple wins are not uncommon for Shilling.

Slim was born into a racing family at Ringgold, Ohio. His mother and his aunt, Lindy Boyles, rode runners sidesaddle at McConnelsville. "And win, too," Slim adds. He has been racing 24 years, having started driving as a youngster sitting on his mother's lap.

Although he has no love for pacers because they "have their legs all tied together", one of his greatest thrills came from a pacer. That was in 1944 at Lexington when he brought T D Van home in 2:02¾.

Shilling is scheduled to bring 17 horses to Marion. It will be interesting to see if he can keep up his terrific winning pace.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., July 2 The Cleveland Indians will open a three-day baseball school for Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia boys between 16 and 22 at Patterson field here Thursday, July 8.

ST. PAUL EDGES COLUMBUS, 5-4

St. Paul, which ended last year's American Association season in seventh place, today is only two percentage points behind runnerup Milwaukee and 7½ games behind pace-setting Indianapolis.

St. Paul took over third place from Columbus last night by edging out the Red Birds, 5 to 4, as Morris Martin pitched his seventh victory of the season. The Saints knocked Harvey Haddix out of the box with a three-run assault in the eighth to come from behind after Columbus had scored four runs in the second and third innings. Al Brancato, St. Paul second baseman, had a perfect night at bat, with three for three and a walk.

Indianapolis was outhit by Minneapolis, 10 to 9, but the Indians bunched their blows to defeat the Millers, 5 to 4. The league leaders grouped five of their nine blows for three runs, routing starter Mario Picone.

Toledo staved off a late inning comeback by Milwaukee to win the series opener, 6 to 5.

Kansas City scored three runs in the sixth inning off Lefty John McCall to defeat Louisville 5 to 2.

STREAMLINED SKI

By The Associated Press

LONDON — A new streamlined ski designed in Britain and put through rigorous tests during the Olympic Games at St. Moritz is claimed to be lighter and 100% faster than any other.

Invented by Donald Gomme, technical adviser to the Ski Club of Great Britain, it is a combination of steel, plastic and wood. Embodying the latest methods of shaping wood and metal, the new ski is made with a complete high tensile steel shoe with an overshoe made from English ashwood.

After use by British Olympic athletes down Swiss Glaciers, the ski is to be manufactured for export.

AGE FIGHTS YOUTH IN MOTOR CITY OPEN

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, July 2 — It was a fight of age against youth today as the $15,000 Motor City Open Golf championship moved into the second round.

With the four-day, 72-hole stroke chase nearing the halfway mark, galleryites were carried back 25 years as 51-year-old Joe Kirkwood Sr. the Philadelphia trick shot star, and 46-year-old Gene Sarazen, who has kept knickers in style all this time, showed their heels to most of the youngsters in a star-packed field of 121 of the nation's best pros and amateurs.

Kirkwood, whose last major tournament victories came in the Canadian Open and North and South Open in 1933, lashed out with an amazing 35-33—68 in yesterday's first round to share a first place tie, three strokes under Meadowbrook Country club's par of 35-36—71.

Sarazen, whose aging legs are struggling to keep pace with his big golfing heart, was just a stroke back with 36-35—69. Heading into the second heat of the four-day 72-hole stroke play test.

They were upholding the "age" end of the struggle.

Leading the parade of youths were 24-year-old Gene Dahlsender of Atlanta, Ga., the Southern amateur champion, 29-year-old Johnny Palmer, the Western Open champion from Baden, North Carolina, and 30-year-old Marty Furgol, slender blond, whose home is in North Hollywood, Calif. All three were deadlocked with Kirkwood for the first round lead with sparkling 68's over Meadowbrook's hilly 6,616-yard layout.

Ben Hogan, National Open and PGA champ who rules as the man to beat, had a first round 35-35—70.

Henry Cotton Way Out Front in British Open

By The Associated Press

MUIRFIELD, Scotland, July 2—Britain's veteran campaigner, Henry Cotton, held a four-stroke lead and America's challengers appeared hopelessly beaten today as 38 survivors teed off for the final 36 holes of the British Open golf tournament.

While United States representatives faltered badly, Cotton added a record-breaking 66 to his previous 71 for a halfway mark of 137.

The closest American to him was Arthur Clark, a little-known professional of Huntington, W. Va., who was eight strokes back. Clark shot a 71 yesterday for a total of 145.

A 26 feet 8¼ inch running broad jump by Jesse Owens is still a world record.

Boston's Johnny Sain Becomes 1st 10-Game Winner in National

Reaches Half-Way Mark in Bid To Become 3-Time 20-Game Winner

By The Associated Press

Johnny Sain, Boston Braves righthander, has reached the half way mark in his bid to become the first National league pitcher since Mort Cooper to win 20 games three years in a row

Sain, a native of Belleville, Ark., pitched the league-leading Braves to a 4-1 victory over the New York Giants yesterday for his tenth victory He's the first senior circuit flinger to win 10 this season and now has a 10-5 record.

The soft-spoken 28-year-old hurler has won seven of his last eight starts and appears a cinch to reach the coveted 20

The Boston ace held the Giants to four singles yesterday Two of them helped produce the Giants' lone run in the opening inning

The Braves tied the count in the second on Bob Elliott's sixth home run and won it in the seventh when Tommy Holmes belted a three-run double

Increase Lead

The victory enabled the Braves to increase their lead over the runnerup Cardinals to two and a half games The Cards dropped a 4-3 decision to the Cubs in Chicago

Andy Pafko drove in all of Chicago's runs, doubling home a marker in the first and blasting a three-run homer in the seventh

The third-place Pittsburgh Pirates knocked off the Reds, 3-2, in Cincinnati and jumped within a half game of St Louis.

The Philadelphia Phillies pulled within one percentage point of the fourth-place Giants by beating the Dodgers, 4-2, in Brooklyn behind Schoolboy Rowe

Rowe limited the Dodgers, who now have lost five straight games, to eight hits

In the American league, the Philadelphia Athletics closed in on the league-leading Cleveland Indians by taking a 3-2 night game from the Washington Senators while the Indians were beaten, 9-5 by the Tigers in Detroit. Philadelphia now trails by half a game

The A's scored all of their runs in the last of the ninth with Ferris Fain knocking in two with a double and Elmer Valo singling home Fain with the winning run Trailing 5-4 going into the eighth, the Tigers tallied five runs with George Vico doubling home two and Hal Newhouser two more with a triple

The third-place New York Yankees crept within a game of the Indians with a 10-7 triumph over the Boston Red Sox in the Yankee stadium A seven-run first-inning rally against Mickey Harris enabled the Yanks to win Red Sox slugger Ted Williams wept hitless to end his consecutive game hitting streak at 16

In a night game at St Louis, the Browns scored three runs in the eighth inning to snap a 5-5 tie and went on to beat the Chicago White Sox, 8-5

Shovel Softballers Down Pollak, 11-6

Marion Power Shovel, until yesterday tied with Pollak Steel for fourth place in Thursday's Industrial league with a record of 2-4, last night downed the Steelers, 11-6, to take undisputed possession of that spot Taylor and Osborne, pitchers for the Shovelers, permitted nine hits, one more than Shepard of Pollak

M.P.S. was never in any real danger of losing the fray, as they let go with a four-run spree in the top of the first, and added one in the second and fourth, two in the fifth, one in the sixth and two more in the last. They erred on two chances, while Pollak muffed four

SERIES WITH BROWNS MAY HELP INDIANS

Tribe Loses Ground When Tigers Win, 9-5.

By The Associated Press

ST LOUIS, July 2—The hard-pressed Cleveland Indians believed today that a four-game series with the lowly St Louis Browns may be what the doctor man ordered to widen the gap between the Tribe and its chief rivals.

Nursing a slim half-game lead over the Philadelphia Athletics, the Indians named Don Black to hurl in the opener against the Browns tonight Former Cleveland southpaw Bill Kennedy will toil for St Louis against his ex-mates.

The eastern challengers each gained a full game on Cleveland yesterday as the Indians blew a one-run lead in the eighth inning for a 9-5 setback in the finale of a three-game series with the Indians in a relief role for his Detroit Tigers

Hal Newhouser throttled the 10th win of the season after the Tribe wiped out a 4-0 Detroit lead with five runs in the seventh and eighth frames.

Eddie Robinson's pinch single drove two Cleveland runs across in the seventh and the Tribe moved ahead for the first time, 5-4, in the eighth on singles by Manager Lou Boudreau and Wally Judnich, plus Joe Gordon's 12th homer

Reliefer Sam Zoldak then was lifted after the tying run scored in the bottom half of the inning, and Russ Christopher was hammered for four more runs to complete the route Bob Muncrief retired in the midst of a baseball barrage in the fifth, but Zoldak was charged with his first loss since joining the Indians.

No Place Like Away From Home, Says Tribe

By The Associated Press

ST LOUIS July 2—As far as the Cleveland Indians are concerned, "there's no place like away from home"

A veteran member of the Tribe, who asked that his name be withheld, said today "every man on the ball club, though he won't admit it to the press, would rather play ball on the road than have to take that 'gaff' from the super-charged crowd in Cleveland"

"I can speak for just about the whole ball club," he said "I travel with them and I live with them and I know what they talk about We just don't play the same kind of ball at home that we do on the road, simply because of the fan reaction there So we'd rather play on the road where we have better than a 50-50 chance"

"We're not trying to alibi," the player continued, "we're simply facing facts On the road, win or lose, we're a better ball club because the pressure isn't there."

Liquor Permit Plan Aims at Trafficking

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., July 2—Liquor Director Dale Dunifon announced today a new policy to prevent "as near as possible, undue trafficking and profiteering in liquor licenses."

Approval of sale of taverns and night clubs granted new liquor and night club permits will be withheld until at least six months after issuance of the permits, Dunifon said

Moose Softball Team Due To Come Into Limelight Soon

By BILL MURPHY

The Moose lodge softball team, almost unrecognized this season among Marion's numerous softball and baseball teams, is due to come into the limelight any day now, if the efforts of George Reinlinger are met with any degree of success.

Dynamic George, manager of the team, production engineer at the Marion Power Shovel Co and prelate of the Moose lodge while endeavoring to bring some of the top ranking softball teams of the state here for games with his team has been staging a constant battle with the elements Not only has the battle been constant, but also losing," he stated in an interview today "We have been forced to postpone seven of eleven games to date due to foul weather"

Reinlinger's plans call for a schedule of games that will bring top flight teams here, and although the young team (the average age is 22 years) may lose more games than they win, he feels that it will help in the advancement of softball here in general and the development of the team in particular

Won 2, Lost 1

Of the four games played, the Moose nine has won two and lost a like number They trounced Mansfield, 6 to 1, Dayton Moose 1947 state Moose champions, 4 to 3, and suffered reverses at the hands of Hamilton champion Paper Coater Co., 5-0, and Sandusky, 6-4. Two of the games that were washed out have been rescheduled for July 14 and 23 when the locals will meet the Delaware Indians. The first will be a road trip and the second will be played at Prospect Community park which draws a better Marion crowd than games right here in the city. Reinlinger said Five other games are yet to be rescheduled for July He said that he would be making a trip to Cincinnati today and would probably book at least five of the best teams there for games

A two double header will be booked for a weekend in August, which will include a game with the Hamilton Champion Paper Coater Co. and one with Hamilton Moose on Saturday and games with Cincinnati Eagles and Cincinnati Coca-Cola on Sunday —in a grand four-game tour.

3 Good Pitchers

The pitching staff for the team at present consists of two better than average hurlers Guy Lewis, 36, five feet eight and 180 pounds, as good a pitcher as the town has, manager Reinlinger says, and Ralph Romer, 22, five eight and 170 shows great promise. Lewis, a fastballer, this year is developing a good drop to go with his speed He formerly pitched for Smitty's All Stars and Schlairet Transfer.

Others making up the team include Lee Harvey and Roby Ivey, catchers Bob England, first sacker, Vern Virdin, second baseman, young Jim Rea, shortstop, Richard Patterson at third, and an outfield composed of Lefty Young, Dick Mulvaine, Bob Shuford former Cub fielder and catcher, Frankie Terse and Bob Owens. Ivey Patterson, Mulvaine are big men with the stick, and no doubt Bob Shuford will join the clan

FRANCIS KRISTIE, the new Marion Cubs manager, did not come by that last name by birth It is an adaptation of his real handle, a 15-letter nightmare no one but a Lithuanian could mouth with any degree of assurance. It's Francis M. Kriseciokaitis Just that. He was known as Murphy in the Army Air Corps, which was fortunate for the guys who punch out dog tags and typewriters.

• • •

The Zanesville Dodger's mound corps has undergone a big change since they were here last Three new hurlers joined them this week—Robert Virkstis, a lefty, Paul Oakes and Bob Smith—and in addition Horace Daisey returned to the lineup after being out of action with a sore arm Edmund Sobocinski and Red Purcell were released

LAST RITES ARE HELD

UPPER SANDUSKY — Funeral services for J W. Marston, local resident who died Wednesday at the Sawyer sanitarium in Marion, were conducted today at the Bringham & Co. funeral home in Upper Sandusky Rev. C Crawford Culp, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, had charge of the services, held at 2 o'clock Masonic committal services were held at Oak Hill cemetery.

GIANTS CATCHING UP WITH MUNCIE REDS

Springfield's Giants—who have mounted 3½ games nearer the top in the last two days—stand a chance to take top spot in the Ohio-Indiana baseball league today

They were steaming ahead just one-half game behind the league-leading Muncie Reds, who dropped one of those teeter-totter affairs to Newark last night, 9-7, while the Giants were trouncing Lima, 10-3.

A win for the Giants and a loss for the Reds could change the lad tonight

While the Giants chased the Reds, Portsmouth chased the Giants by overwhelming Marion, 12-1 Richmond's Braves stopped a four-game losing string with an 8-4 verdict over Zanesville in another Ohio-Indiana game.

The Giants collected 11 hits off hurler Lee Galvez of Lima, with minutes.

Softball Slants

By GEORGE SCOTT

Never underestimate the power of a woman

Smitty's Maids are a group of twelve Marion girls, four of them married, who do more than look pretty in their new gold and green uniforms They play good softball

Organized five years ago, the team travels all over the state to tangle with other feminine teams and has an impressive record of nine wins and two losses this year The girls play all home games at Crystal Lake park where Robert H Smith, sponsor of the club and manager of Smitty's Bar and Grill, put in lights and bleachers seating 60.

Helen Mochel of near Marion is the team's pitcher but she can hit and play any position Since joining the club in 1944 she has hurled four no-hitters and this season she leads the team in home runs

Her battery mate, catcher Betty Foust of Galion, is an able slugger Alice Barrett and Miriam Hart can also hit a long ball.

OTHER TEAM MEMBERS are Mable Wright, Sally Murray, Jo Ann Groll, Jo Ann Rosenberger, Rachel Pummel, Betty Cook, Pete Austin, Joan Hogan, and Mickey Carpenter

The enviable job of manager of the team is filled by Lloyd Hart, husband of one of the players. He also plays first and in the outfield on Smitty's All Stars men's team

The girls also play basketball and do well at it.

"I played ball in high school but I had to give it up when I went to work When I was asked to sponsor a girls soft ball team five years ago I didn't hesitate," says Mr Smith. On that original Maids team were Sally Murray, Helen Mochel, Miriam Hart, and Alice Barrett.

Mr Smith says he received his biggest thrill when the Maids executed a triple play against Fremont last year The girls were sixth district champs of Ohio last year

Shortstop George Pagliaro, although he connected for only 2 three-run homer in the ninth.

Muncie's Reds gathered six runs off two Newark pitchers but failed to count as many runs. And, the Reds committed six errors afield, two of which helped Newark score in the winning margin in the seventh frame.

PROMINENT CHURCH LEADER, WIFE KILLED

By The Associated Press

DAYTON, O., July 2—A nationally prominent Presbyterian minister and educator and his wife were killed last night in an automobile-train collision at Bachman, O., 17 miles to the west.

Dead were: Dr. Charles Ryan Adams, 72, Parkville, Mo., Mrs Myra Oldfather Adams, 72, his wife.

Identification was made by a friend, E. A. Twitchell of Springfield, who was a passenger on the fast Pennsylvania railroad train that struck the Adams automobile.

Dr Adams and his wife were on vacation from their work at the Parkville Community (Presbyterian) church. He had been scheduled to speak at the Covenant Presbyterian church in Springfield, Sunday.

The State Highway patrol said the Adams machine was carried more than a mile by the speeding train. Mainline traffic of the Pennsylvania was held up for three hours while workmen cut the debris off the engine with torches. The road's crack Jeffersonian was among the delayed trains.

Dr Adams had been pastor of the Parkville (Mo) Community church since 1944. During the years of his ministry, he served as trustee of Western College for Women in Oxford, O., as dean of chapel at Park college, Kansas City, and secretary of the New Era movement for the central district of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church.

A son Philip is head of the Cincinnati Art institute.

New York Stock Quotations

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, July 2—Some old favorites stepped well in front of a steady stock market today.

Most price changes were fractional either way. Nickel Plate railroad, though, jumped 3 on its first sale and Richfield Oil gained more than a point. Only moderate activity developed.

Steel shares improved, possibly in response to overnight news that President Truman had decided to try out a voluntary steel allocation program, rather than allocation by government order. Fractional improvement was noted in U. S. Steel.

Others higher included Packard, Studebaker, Air Reduction, Santa Fe, Pennsylvania Railroad, Southern Pacific and Union Pacific.

On the losing side were Goodrich, Sears Roebuck, Woolworth, Anaconda Copper, General Electric, J. C. Penney, International Paper, Illinois Central and Paramount Pictures.

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

The Democrats will have more delegates than the Republicans did at Philadelphia and Truman will need 70 more votes than Dewey did for a majority. This will make nice practice for November.

• • •

That is if Harry gets the nomination. Some Democrats are still trying to get Ike to repeat the terms of unconditional surrender.

• • •

At the moment Mr. Truman has enough delegates pledged to him on the first ballot to slip on the second ballot.

• • •

But the only way they can get 140 more delegates in Convention hall is to take out two rows of Republicans. There are still some there waiting for the Taft boom to start.

• • •

The Democrats studied the television coverage of the Republican convention and they plan to make up more speakers to look like Irene Dunne. In fact she may be nominated if it's a close fight.

• • •

FOUR POWERS HOLD PARLEY ON BLOCKADE

Meet at Home of Soviet Marshal After British Demand Traffic Reopening.

BULLETIN

By The Associated Press

BERLIN, July 3—An official American spokesman announced tonight that Soviet Marshal Vassily D. Sokolovsky had refused to give any assurance to western power commanders that the Russian blockade of Berlin would be lifted.

• • •

By The Associated Press

BERLIN July 3—A four-power conference, which the British said was to discuss the Russian blockade of Berlin, was called tonight at the residence of Soviet Marshal Vassily D Sokolovsky.

The British announcement was released about 20 minutes after the meeting was scheduled to begin. Problems arising from the circulation here of rival eastern and western German currencies also were expected to be discussed by the conferees

The consultations, the British said, were the result of a suggestion made by the British commander Gen Sir Brian Robertson, in a letter to Sokolovsky

Protest Held Back

Robertson also demanded that the Russians reopen the highway from western Germany and say when rail traffic to this isolated city can be restored To give the negotiations here time to materialize, the three Western powers deferred a protest direct to the Kremlin

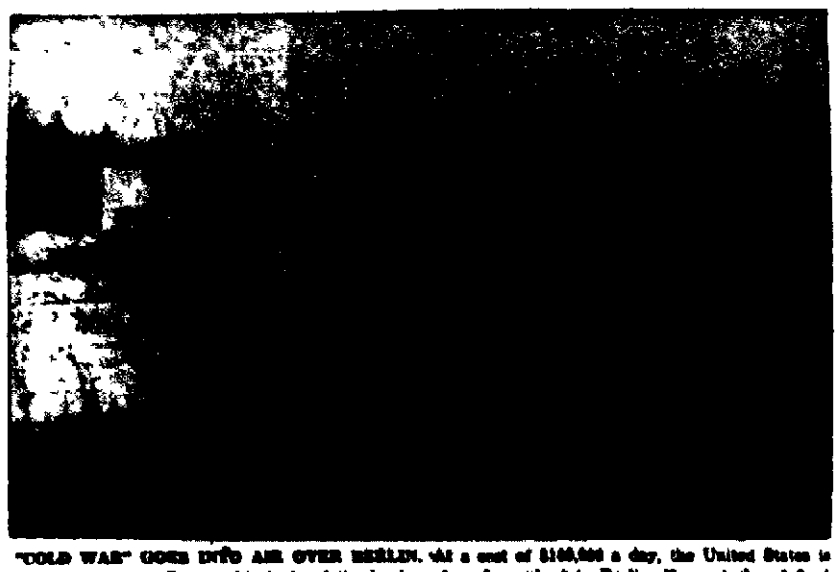
The conference with Sokolovsky lasted about an hour Upon their return the three western commanders—Gens Lucius D Clay, Robertson and French Gen Roger Noiret—went into another conference at Clay's headquarters.

Results Unannounced

There was no immediate announcement about the results of their talks with the Russian commander

The Soviet clamp-down on Berlin's rail and highway lifelines to the west was imposed two weeks ago. American and British authorities countered by assigning great air fleets to bring food and essential supplies to the 2,500,000 Germans in the western sectors of the city

Board Votes To Hold Up School Building Program



"COLD WAR" GOES INTO AIR OVER BERLIN. At a cost of $160,000 a day, the United States is circumventing the Russian blockade of the land routes of supply into Berlin. Huge stocks of food and other supplies are piled up at the Rhein-Main air base to be loaded into the huge transport planes shuttling into the beleaguered city. U. S. Silver Street Project To End Work for the Present.

After the Silver street school addition is completed there will be no further school building at this time in Marion.

This was decided last night by the Marion city board of education Reason for the board's decision—not enough money.

In a prepared statement last night the board stated the question faced and the reasons for their decision. The statement follows:

"The Marion city board of education faces a serious dilemma in regard to its school building program. Whereas an amount of $3,100,000 was voted for school house construction in 1946, the architects advise us that program as outlined at the time the bonds were voted would now cost us $4,748,000 (Board members and architects agree that $3,900,000 would be required by the time construction could get underway if current building costs continue to rise.) This figure does not include the Silver Street addition and the recent relighting of school buildings Boards of education all over Ohio are faced with this same dilemma. In most communities where bonds have been voted for school construction the money available will not now meet the needs because of increased costs. In 1946 Marion voted the maximum amount of money permitted by law"

Long Study of Problem

The board devoted three and one half hours to the discussion and consideration of this problem at last night's meeting. Faced with the cold fact the school building fund has approximately 60 per cent of the required amounts to complete its building program and the added facts revealed by an investigation this week, that costs of materials still are rising almost daily. The board agreed construction beyond the completion of the Silver street addition was not only ill advised but impossible because of lack of funds.

Plans for the North State street junior high school are being completed by architects and will be ready for bidding Jan. 1. Bids will not be accepted at that time, however but will be accepted when building costs and school board finances more nearly match, the board agreed.

Arrangements were completed by the board to use rooms in the Lee Street Presbyterian church to house two of the first grade classes at Silver street until the new addition is ready.

The board approved the recommendation of Supt. Lester L. Dickey to employ two extra teachers at once for use in the North Main street school district to accomodate added enrollment of pupils from a new trailer camp to be constructed in that district to house workers of the Maxon Construction Co. The company estimates there will be 50 trailers on the site and there will be at least one school child to each trailer family

Campbell Pupils Placed

The board decided to place children from Campbell school district at the Greenwood school building as that building could best absorb increased enrollment.

It was decided by the board to light rooms at Oak street school with fluorescent lights.

The board approved that school district north of town bounded on the south by Williamsport road and running west from North Main street to the Pennsylvania railroad tracks and running northeast should be transferred to Grand Prairie school district. State and county school offices will be so advised by letter today

Continued leaves of absence for one year were approved for Miss Lettie Teuchman and Mrs Mildred Bunsts.

The resignation of Miss Marguerite Kunze was accepted by the board Miss Kunze, third grade teacher at Forest Lawn school, is resigning prior to being married this summer

Mrs. Goldie McLain was employed as a teacher for the night saving class at a salary of $2,600.

D. J Hankins of Bowling Green, O., was employed to teach mathematics at Central Junior High school for the 1948-49 season at a salary of $3,300 He will replace Mrs Evelyn Hutton who was transferred to the position of art teacher in junior and senior high schools last year.

SEES NO STOP TO "IKE" TREND

Alabama's Sparkman Asserts Only Definite "No" Will Halt Nomination Move.

By JACK BELL
Associated Press Political Reporter

Sen Sparkman of Alabama said today that only a clear "no" from Gen Dwight D. Eisenhower now can stop efforts to deliver the Democratic presidential nomination to the wartime commander.

Sparkman, who directed Democratic speakers in the 1946 congress campaign, told a reporter in Washington he doesn't know whether Eisenhower would accept the nomination if it is offered him.

But the Alabama senator made it plain that southern Democrats balking at President Truman's civil rights program will read further silence by Eisenhower as willingness to have his name offered to the party convention opening July 12 in Philadelphia.

On that basis, arrangements were reported made for Alabama to yield its first crack at nominating speeches to Kansas, for a home-state nomination of the general.

Would Come Before Truman

This would put Eisenhower's name in the pot before President Truman could be officially listed as a candidate.

It would give Eisenhower's supporters the chance for a shouting, cowbell ringing, stomp dance by which they might hope to stampede the convention

There are clear indications that Mr Truman's friends are scared at what might happen in such a situation.

This was reported to be back of their decision to dispatch George Allen—of "laughing boy" fame in the early days of the Truman regime—to talk matters over with the general.

Reached at Eisenhower's Columbia university home in New York, Allen said "no comment."

Charles G Ross, presidential press secretary, told reporters if Allen is seeing Eisenhower "he is seeing him on his own, I don't know for what purpose"

"He is certainly not an emissary of President Truman," Ross said

Sees No "Stop" Eisenhower

J Howard McGrath, Democratic national chairman said the White House hadn't taken any steps to get Eisenhower to remove himself from the race.

With the President barred by his own decision from making any affirmative move, the beat to sidetrack him for Eisenhower got hotter by the hour

Virginia Democrats, spurred by Sen. Harry F Byrd, planted both feet in the general's camp. Their convention at Richmond instructed the state's 26-vote delegation to Philadelphia to work for Eisenhower's nomination and to vote unanimously against any candidate who is for Mr. Truman's civil rights program.

The Virginia action followed roaring approval by the Georgia Democratic convention of a resolution urging Eisenhower to "respond to this call for service"

Ask That Truman Back Out

The Georgians, with 28 nominating votes, adopted another resolution denouncing President Truman as a source of "chaos, confusion and revolt." It called on the President to quit the nomination race

Elsewhere the general's self-appointed backers sought to touch off a prairie fire.

Jacob M Arvey, Chicago Democratic leader who has been in and out of the Truman fold, and James Roosevelt had invited him to a Philadelphia meeting July 10 to talk over the Eisenhower program

Albania Orders Slavs To Leave

Belgrade Radio Reports Severing of Trade Relations, Protocols Denounced.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, July 3—The Belgrade radio said today Albania, breaking trade relations with Yugoslavia, has ordered Yugoslav cultural and trade missions to leave the country within 48 hours.

The broadcast, monitored by the official Yugoslav news agency Tanjug, said Premier Marshal Tito's foreign ministry had sent Albania a stiffly worded note protesting the severance of trade as a "gross violation" of international law.

Yugoslavia delivered three sharp notes to Albania yesterday accusing her of "offensive acts" to destroy Yugoslav prestige. The notes warned Albania of economic repercussions if such action continued.

Today's broadcast said Albania, by a unilateral act contrary to all fundamental principles of international law, had denounced "all economic agreements and protocols" with Yugoslavia

Tanjug said the Albanian note was dated July 1 the day after the Yugoslav central Communist party committee denied the cominform charges that Tito and his lieutenants had strayed from the path of Marxism and were conducting an anti-Russian policy.

Government Attorneys Ponder Draft Act in Relation to Steel's Coal Mines.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 3—Government attorneys took a long look at the new draft law today to see whether it gives President Truman the power to seize steel company coal mines if next Tuesday's threatened strike occurs.

The steel firms squared away yesterday for what looks like a major tussle with John L. Lewis over his union shop contract with the rest of the soft coal industry. They asked the National Labor Relations board to seek an injunction against the union shop provision. The steel company mines produce one-tenth of the nation's bituminous coal—but all of their output goes to fuel the steel mills

Thus a strike at the "captive" mines would quickly become serious. Closing down blast furnaces and steel mills would shortly paralyze the auto industry and hundreds of other companies dependent on steel for basic operations.

The stepped-up national defense program would be affected

That's where Mr Truman's new seizure powers fit into the picture The new draft law says he may take over "any plant, mine or other facility" and operate it for the production of government-ordered materials in cases where the contractor has failed to produce on schedule.

This provision was inserted at the request of Sen Russell (D-Ga) but there has been no official opinion yet as to its possible application to the captive mine dispute

While the rest of the soft coal industry signed a new agreement with Lewis a week ago, effective July 1, the steel companies said his union shop clause would force them to violate the Taft-Hartley act and they would not yield They said they were willing to meet his other terms — one dollar a day more pay and an extra 10-cent tonnage royalty — making it 30 cents a ton—for a $100,000,000 a year pension and welfare fund

Sparked by U. S. Steel corporation, 18 steel and coal companies whose mines produce entirely for hungry blast furnaces, filed unfair labor practice charges with the NLRB

NEAR RECORD CORN CROP IS FORECAST

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, July 3 — A corn crop of more than three billion bushels was forecast today by C M Galvin crop expert for James E. Bennett and Co. commission firm. It was the first private or government estimate made on the new corn crop

Calvin said the nation should produce 3,127,000,000 bushels of corn if normal weather conditions prevail throughout the growing season. This would be the second largest crop on record, being topped only by the 3,287,927,000 bushels harvested in 1946.

Last year the nation had a short corn crop because of midsummer drought. Only 2,447,422,000 bushels were harvested. Grain men and government officials have considered this partly responsible for lower meat and poultry production this year.

Congregation To Build New Church in Marion

Marion is to have a new church building. Erection of the edifice to be located on South Prospect street at the site of their present building will get under way early this fall, according to plans of the building committee of First Evangelical United Brethren church.

The Gothic type structure of stone, possibly grey, will cost approximately $150,000, it was stated. Opening for bids will be in the near future.

Approximately half of the building cost is now in the building fund, Rev Don Hochstetler, pastor, stated. The committee has been assured that building materials will be available.

Housed in the new structure besides the sanctuary will be Sunday school rooms and a parish hall, a small chapel, and pastor's study Plans call for an auditorium 38 by 110 feet, and back of this will be the three-floor Sunday school unit. While the building is under construction, the congregation will meet in rented rooms.

Present membership of the church is approximately 600. At a recent congregational meeting, it was voted to carry to completion the building program, interrupted by the war, which was launched seven years ago

A temporary building committee made recommendation that the structure be built on the site of the present church building, on the same general plan as was adopted prior to the war with minor changes including the chapel and pastor's study A plan for financing the project was recommended Both suggestions were accepted by the congregation by a substantial majority in each case, Rev Hochstetler reported.

Permanent Committee

Elected on a permanent building committee were Robert Brown, Miss Gwen Coler, James Craven, Mrs. Shirley Howard, Wayne Murray, Russell Nichol, Walter Serenton, Albert Click and Guy Stoner Mr Brown and Mr. Murray were elected to the board of trustees of the church on the same ballot. Design for the church building was drawn by John H. Moore, local architect.

INDUCTION CHECKUP SHOWS 650,000 MEN

By The United Press

WASHINGTON, July 3—Selective service officials estimated today that there are more than 8,000,000 men in the draft age of 19-through-25 but that only about 650,000 will actually be available for induction.

This, however, is expected to provide more than enough men to meet the armed forces' manpower requirements. The Army expects to call up only 228,000 to 250,000 men in the next year.

The Air Force and the Navy plan to rely on the voluntary enlistment system entirely to get them the men they need.

World War II veterans make up by far the largest group eliminated from the draft pool by congress. Officials estimate that there are more than 5,000,000 veterans in the 19-through-25 age group who are exempt from the draft under provisions of the new selective service law.

Another 1,500,000 men are classified as physically unfit for military service. About 900,000 men whose ages range from 19 through 25 are now in the armed services, and another 290,000 are listed as virtually certain to be deferred.

Youths coming of age will keep the pool replenished. It is estimated that about 1,200,000 come of age each year, although roughly half of those will be deferred for one reason or another.

Drafting is not scheduled to begin until Sept. 22. Between now and then local draft boards must be established and all other parts of the selective service machinery put in motion.

Members of the local draft boards will be appointed by President Truman on recommendations by state governors. The boards are being informally recruited now.

Most states report that they are having no difficulty getting board members. In some instances veterans of World War II are being asked to serve on the boards.

Believe Numbers Ring In Ford Plant Broken

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, July 3—A UAW-CIO committeeman was under arrest today as suburban Dearborn police claimed to have cracked a $5,000,000 a year numbers ring inside the Rouge plant of the Ford Motor Co.

Police Chief Ralph Guy said a warrant charging bribery would be asked against the committeeman Edward Hester, 38.

Hester was arrested Guy said in the chief's office in a trap set by police. Guy said Hester told him he would pay 'protection' money of $2,000 to $5,000 a month for the mutuels ring.

Hester offered $100 Thursday night to "leave me alone," Guy said.

"It's worth $50,000 a year to me to have the mayor, the police chief and the vice squad let me run in the Rouge plant, the chief quoted Hester.

Dearborn police who for two weeks had led Hester on, discovered for the first time that Hester headed a mutuels house of his own when they searched his hotel room following his arrest, Guy said.

TERMS COMMUNIST SPLIT FIRST OF KIND

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 3—Rep. Bolton (R-Ohio) today termed the Yugoslavia-Moscow quarrel the first split in the world Communist bloc.

Mrs. Bolton is chairman of a house foreign affairs subcommittee which is studying the Communist movement throughout the world.

She told a reporter the Yugoslavia action is "the first surge against complete domination of the world Communist group in the Kremlin."

She said similar independent actions might follow in other Russian satellite states, especially in the Balkans although the others lack the strong leadership shown by Premier Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia.

Mrs. Bolton said she "would not be surprised to see a great deal of bloodshed" resulting from protests against Moscow domination.

"It remains to be seen, however," she added, "whether Tito and the Yugoslavs can hold out against the pressure Russia is putting on them."

She said our "holding" Berlin is a "tremendous factor" in Yugoslav and other Balkan developments.

If we are forced out of Berlin, she said, Austria will be lost to Communist forces.

If Tito can enforce his independent stand against Moscow, Mrs. Bolton added, it will encourage similar opposition in other nations now dominated by Russia.

The name "Electra" is given to three Greek legendary figures: the wife of Oceanus, one of the Pleiads, and to the daughter of Agamemnon. The word means "bright one."

BRITISH MINE PLAN COSTLY, LENGTHY

By International News Service

LONDON — Britain's first industrial nationalization project — the taking over of the coal mines is proving to be a bigger, costlier, and longer job than the government anticipated.

Mining experts now state that the technical problems confronting the national coal board are so vast that it will be years before the whole scheme is completed.

There are also clear indications that the job of overhauling the industry will cost much more money than was first calculated. When the Reid committee (which recommended the nationalization of the mines) reported two years ago the cost of the reorganization was put at 1 billion 200 million dollars.

It is now anticipated that the total cost of carrying out the coal board's sweeping plans will be nearer twice that amount.

Apart from the mechanization of the pits the basis of the government plan will be the large scale closing down of uneconomical pits.

But with the present fuel shortage continuing, it is unlikely that there will be much closing down of pits for a few years. The government will press on with preliminary plans for concentrating production in the better pits because these plans must be worked out years in advance.

The final aim is to slash the number of pits in Britain from the present figure of 1800 to 300.

All these modernized mines will be equipped with the latest possible machinery and scientific haulage systems. The Dutch system of "double skip" winding, which brings coal up straight from the bottom to the pit-head without being touched by hand, will be installed.

Columbia River Back Within Banks Again

By The Associated Press

PORTLAND, Ore., July 3—Forty-five days from its start, the Columbia river flood will end here Monday.

The weather bureau forecast that the river would get back in its banks at the 18-foot level then for the first time since May 22.

It was the costliest flood on record. The damage is in yet-untotaled multi-millions. The known death toll is 49, and still not certainty final. The homeless were estimated at 80,000.

Independence Day

Tomorrow the United States of America reaches its 172nd birthday. Many nations can lay claim to much greater age. None can compare with us in accomplishment.

With less than 6 per cent of the earth's area and 7 per cent of its population we have achieved the highest standard of living ever known in the whole history of mankind. That standard of living stems directly from the freedom won for us at such cost as Valley Forge, and has been safeguarded by the wise provisions placed in our Constitution.

It is our privilege to enjoy this great heritage. It is equally our duty to protect it from enemies, within or without our borders.

SEEK KILLER-MANIAC IN OKLAHOMA HUNT

By The Associated Press

TULSA, Okla., July 3—More than a score of police and detectives were assigned today to find the "murder mad" maniac who beat a woman to death and bludgeoned another woman and two girls.

The attacks threw the neighborhood where they occurred into renewed horror. It was the same residential district squeezed in between railroad tracks and factories, where five persons had been murdered in the last five years.

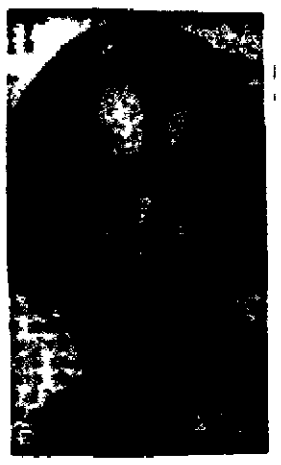
Police Chief G. W. Holinsworth, County Attorney Elmer Adams and Police Commissioner J. Fred Lawrence, Jr. dropped other duties to direct the manhunt.

Two men already had been arrested, but police said they had furnished alibis and probably would be released.

Detective Capt. J. D. Bills said the "club-swinging maniac" first broke into the home of Mrs. J. B. Cole, 37, through a window Thursday night. He bludgeoned her, her 13-year-old daughter Doris, and Doris' girl friend Lavon Gabbard, 14, who was spending the night there.

Then neighbors heard the screams of the women and the girls and saw a hatless man in white shirt and dark trousers run from the house.

The madman then broke into the first floor apartment of Mrs. Ruth Norton, 40, and beat her to death.



SIX WEEKS IN COMA. Given sodium pentothal before an operation six weeks ago, Mrs. Elizabeth Vance, 36, has been in a coma in a Toledo hospital ever since. Mrs. Vance's husband, Wesley, said physicians held little hope for her recovery unless she awakens of her own volition. (International Soundphoto)

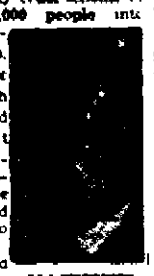
By DeWitt Mackenzie

THE crisis growing out of Russia's effort to starve the civilian population of western Berlin by food blockade remains serious, but it strikes this observer as having improved basically in favor of the democracies.

There always comes a time when the school-yard bully gets his bluff called. That's what is happening to the Muscovites in Germany now.

They thought that America, Britain and France would recoil before the utterly cruel scheme of plunging 2,500,000 people into hunger by halting food trains, all of which have to pass through Russian occupied territory that completely surrounds the capital. But the Reds had yelled "veto" once too often.



MACKENZIE

Uncle Sam and John Bull immediately started flying foodstuffs into Berlin with a fleet of big airships. They did such a good job that by Thursday General Lucius D. Clay, U. S. military governor, declared:

"We can supply all the food Berlin needs by air and we can make a hell of a good effort to fly in all the coal Berlin needs, too."

When Clay uses that sort of language he is "talking turkey." Previously he had announced that nothing short of war could drive America out of Berlin, and Britain echoed in effect "Same here." Meantime Washington, London and Paris have been conferring regarding measures for dealing with the imbroglio.

WHAT RUSSIA APPARENTLY has been up to is to force the western allies out of Berlin after which she would establish a Soviet state in eastern Germany with this strategic transport center as the capital. Possession of this great and historic city would provide a strong lure to persuade the people of western Germany to unite with the Communist state in due course.

However the Muscovite blockade hasn't jelled. The western allies have refused to be bullied. True, the battle isn't over yet and the Reds may have something else up their sleeve, for they work by stealth and trickery.

Still the Russians would seem to have maneuvered themselves into an uncomfortable spot, and have given some indication that they were keeping the way open for retreat. The Communist command in Germany has remarked that the railroad blockade was inaugurated to enable repairs to the line and that these would be effected shortly.

IN ANY EVENT, not only the blockade but the whole wretched German situation has reached a point from which observers expect the Russians to withdraw to escape embarrassment and consolidate their position. The decision of the democracies to create a German state out of the three western zones leaves the Bolsheviks the choice of joining in and making it a fourzome or of establishing their own Soviet state.

One would look for them to inaugurate their own state, and play for time in an effort to win all Germany. An added argument for such a course in Moscow's highly difficult position as the result of Marshal Tito's defiance, which is being backed by his followers by Yugoslavia.

That Balkan upset—the first break in the solidarity of Russia's satellites has posed a nasty problem for Moscow and consequently has eased the Red pressure in the German crisis.

PREDICTS FATALITIES, HIGHWAY CROWDING

By The United Press

CHICAGO, July 3—More than 30,000,000 automobiles will crowd the nation's highways during the Fourth of July weekend and 235 persons will die in traffic accidents, the National Safety Council predicted today.

That figure doesn't include those killed by fireworks drowning, and other holiday mishaps.

During the recent three-day Memorial day weekend 212 persons were killed in traffic accidents. In addition, 93 drowned and 148 died in miscellaneous accidents.

The death toll could be cut, the council said, if motorists and vacationers would observe the following rules:

1. Don't speed. Be patient and courteous in heavy traffic.
2. Don't drink if you drive.
3. Don't permit children to have fireworks. Attend public displays instead.
4. Don't overdo in exercise, eating, or exposure to sun.
5. Don't swim alone, know the depth of the water, wait an hour after eating, and don't show off in the water or in boats.

POLICE RECOVER RADIUM

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, July 3 — Police recovered two tubes of radium worth $5,000 last night along with the automobile in which the radium was left last May 20. Detective Frank Cawthra said a 27-year-old Crile Veterans hospital patient admitted stealing the machine, owned by a doctor, from a downtown parking lot. The detective said the patient, unaware the radium was inside the auto, used the machine to drive to and from the hospital.

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

NOT for the first time I made the mental comment that Olga, exiled queen of Transvania, is quick to resent any criticism, no matter how slight, of her husband, Philip Veritsen, the sweetheart of her youth, banished from the court of Transvania by his grandfather, so many years ago to prevent a wedding between Olga, a visiting princess, and Philip, related by "bar sinister" to the ruling house of Transvania.

She rarely reverts to what Mary, her step-daughter-in-law who adores her irreverently calls her "crown and sceptre air," but it certainly was sitting heavily upon her as she put her quiet query to Mary. For an instant I wondered how Dicky's niece was going to extricate herself from the quandary into which her heedless speech had plunged her. But I need not have feared for Mary. She takes everything in stride, although I heard a quick intake of her breath as the question struck her.

"Oh, Mother, darling!" she exclaimed, and there was genuine contrition in her voice and face as she flung herself across the room to the elder woman's side in what seemed to be one flowing, graceful movement. "Please forgive me! Of course I'm not afraid of Dad's displeasure. I was just broadcasting tripe, as usual. You do understand, don't you?"

Olga's face mellowed as her arms went around Mary.

"Of course I understand, dearest," she said. "And I also understand the meaning of the old saying about 'being able to coax the birds off the bushes.' I cannot imagine anyone refusing you anything."

"I can," Mary said a bit grimly. Then she gave her step-mother-in-law a "bear hug."

"But you're the world's best scout," she said, "and you surely deserve a better fate than to have me in the family. But I'll promise to keep my tongue under control from this second on."

"You needn't, Olga told her, smiling. 'And now suppose we all sit down, and let me bring you up to date upon the clothes question."

She sent an oddly hesitant glance at Mary and at me. Then, when we had seated ourselves, she waited almost a minute before she began speaking.

Mary and I exchanged surreptitious glances. "What is this?" I almost could hear Mary speaking the question. But a glance at Olina from beneath my lowered eyelashes, told me that she was not puzzled, that she knew very well what her mother meant to tell us.

"Philip's sense of theater is very strong, you know,' she said. "and when he found that it was possible to have Olina and Georges in full regalia"— I knew that her smile was a triumph of her sense of humor over her natural deference to the trappings of royalty—"he wished the rest of the party, also to be in court dress."

She paused and I put an amazed question.

"Georges" I asked.

"Yes," she answered with a slight smile. "Years ago when Georges saw this storm coming over his world, he transferred some of his private fortune to New York City banks. This, I think you know."

I nodded assent, and she went on.

"He also it seems brought over some swords which he especially cherished, two or three of his favorite uniforms, and jewels for his bride when he should marry. Philip tells me that Georges gave the keys to his safety deposit boxes to your father, my dear Marge, and that Charles has promised to bring everything with him when he shall go to the farm."

I told myself that I hoped Georges had not brought the crown of Trees with him. I did not think my risibles could stand the sight of the royal playboy with a crown upon his head as he exchanged marriage vows with Olina. But I knew that both my father and Philip Veritsen would forbid any such outlandish gesture, even if Georges wished it.

Mary's attentive face turned to Olga's, told me that the actress in her was battling with her own sense of humor.

"You mean, Mother," she said, "that Dad wishes Olina's attendants, and Georges' best man to wear court costumes?"

TOWNS PROPOSE MERGER

By The Associated Press

URICHSVILLE, O., July 3—The Urichsville Chamber of Commerce and the Dennison board of trade plan to circulate petitions calling upon the councils of the two communities to hold a referendum at the November election on a proposal to merge the towns into one city. If the merger is completed, Uhrichsville would annex Dennison and the new city would be known as Dennison-Uhrichsville. In 1940 had a population of 6,485 and Dennison had 4,412.

RAILS ENCOMPASS COMFORTS OF TRAVEL

By International News Service

CHICAGO, July 3—The nation's railroads look forward today to a new and more spectacular period of success in transporting passengers with a maximum of safety and comfort and a minimum of cost.

Experts on hand for the recent three-day annual convention of the Association of American Railroads in Chicago discussed a whole program of new trends which add an extra zest to travel.

They included the vista dome and the extra dome for greater range of scenic visibility, practically home-like sleeping and dining facilities, and a closer link with outside fields of communications.

In a more general sense, they embody putting into the streamliner— the pride of the great American railroad systems—almost the entire world the passenger once left behind when he boarded a train for an often distant goal.

Plans being worked out include traveling industrial and art exhibits, nursery cars, moving motion picture theaters, libraries and cars with running news ticker service.

As a railroad spokesman phrased it:

"Railroads now are more comfortable than they ever were before. They offer more convenience, and luxury.

"And they are seven times safer than transport planes and fourteen times safer than taxicabs and automobiles."

National Teachers Conference Closing

By the Associated Press

BOWLING GREEN, O., July 3—The national conference on the education of teachers, which has attracted 400 of the nation's top educators to the campus of Bowling Green State university, will close today.

Principal speaker for the final session of the four-day conference will be W. E. Peik, chairman of the national commission on teacher education and professional standards, a part of the National Educational association.

In the semifinal session last night, the Connecticut commissioner of education compared present-day teachers to medieval midwives.

"Teaching is a dangerous profession and teachers must have an appreciation of that danger," said Dr. Finis E. Engleman, who recently took the Connecticut post.

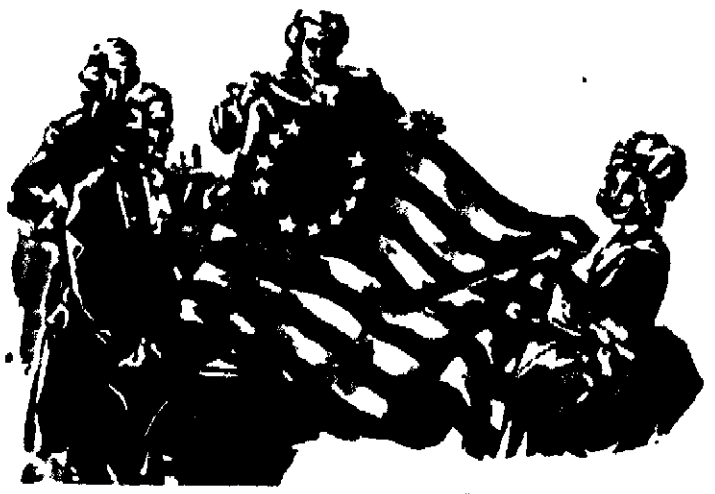
WHAT EVERY AMERICAN SHOULD READ ON INDEPENDENCE DAY



Just a piece of cloth

You can count the threads in it and it's no different from any other piece of cloth.

Then a little breeze comes along and it stirs and sort of comes to life and flutters and snaps in the wind, all red and white and blue.

And then you realize that no other piece of cloth in the whole world could ever be quite like it.

For it has your whole life wrapped up in it. The meals you're going to eat. The time you're going to spend with your wife. The kind of things your boy will learn at school. Those strange and wonderful thoughts you think inside a church on Sunday.

The stars in it—they say you're just as free as the stars in the wide deep night. And the stripes—they're bars of blood to anybody who would try to change it.

Just a piece of cloth—that's all it is—until you put your soul into it, and all that your soul stands for and wants and aspires to be.

Get that straight—it's just a piece of cloth. It doesn't mean a thing you don't make it mean.

Does it mean as much today as it used to mean? Is it the symbol of hope and freedom that it once was to all the world?

For the first time since it was hoisted, the ideals and liberties and rights for which it stands are not spreading throughout the world. Instead, they're shrinking.

What's happened? Doesn't it mean the same things any more? Doesn't it hold out the same hopes and dreams?

Remember—it's just a piece of cloth. It doesn't mean a thing that you don't make it mean.

What are you doing to hold it high and make it lift the hearts of people everywhere with what it stands for—including the hearts of people right here in our own land?

What did you do today to make democracy work?

Revising the Electoral College

A REPUBLICAN platform plank calls for "a revision of the procedure for the election of the president and vice president which will reflect more exactly the popular vote." This obviously is a proposal to revise the electoral college.

The constitution's framers devoted a great deal of thought to the method of choosing the chief executive, but their system wasn't wholly satisfactory and was changed by the 12th amendment in 1804. Neither has the revision been wholly satisfactory, for in 1876 and 1888, respectively, Tilden and Cleveland lost in the electoral college while receiving the majority of the popular vote.

The most common proposed change is to make the electoral vote proportionate to the popular vote. Such a plan would benefit the Republicans in the South and the Democrats in Republican areas, but it also would endanger the two-party system. That might give rise to a multiplicity of parties such as France has, with chaotic politics and governments formed of coalitions. The electoral system as now constituted holds down the number of parties because a party must carry a state if its votes are to count in a national election.

The present electoral system hasn't worked out the way its originators planned. Nevertheless, it isn't a system to be modified without serious study.

Prisoners of War

BRITAIN announces it is sending home the last of its German war prisoners, three years and two months after the war's end. The only Germans left will be those staying voluntarily and those in civil prisons.

Among the victims in World War II, only the United States divested itself of war prisoners as rapidly as possible. But another facet of our prisoners of war policy wasn't so noble. At the war's end, we joined Canada in shipping 165,000 prisoners from North America to Britain for forced labor.

Forty thousand Germans still are war prisoners in the Middle East, some captives for seven years. One of the reasons prisoners have been held so long after World War II is that forced labor is one of the few reparations that can be exacted from a defeated for in this age of total war.

They Want to Reform Politics

NOW IS THE time when reformers want to reform politics. They always do in a national election year. The party conventions, they argue, occur too early in the summer. They conflict with congress. The public gets all hot and bothered and stays that way until November.

If the conventions were held in September, they argue, things would be better. There'd be no conflict with congress, which is supposed to adjourn July 30 under the legislative reorganization act of 1946. Political interest would be brought to a boil in the fall and kept that way for about six weeks, then everything would be over for another four years.

There's no reason why political procedures laid down in the stagecoach era shouldn't be brought up to date—and many have been—but it's doubtful if anything can be done to change politics in a national election year. The frenzied interest that goes with electing a president has little to do with the machinery thereof.

If party conventions were held in September no enthusiasm could bubble over in November and reach the boiling point in November, politics still would be the main event of every election year—and why not? One year out of four doesn't seem like too much to devote to the one game every American can play without apologizing for being an amateur.

She's a Big Girl Now

A MEMORY came flying out of the past like an NRA blue eagle the other day when an item came over the wire announcing the approaching marriage of Miss Anna Eleanor Dall of Phoenix, Ariz. It would have been just another name except that the item went on to explain that Miss Dall, now 21 and a college student, was the "Sistie" Dall of White House fame.

Tempus certainly does fugit as a Latin scholar once observed. Sistie Dall is a bride-to-be.

What of Buzzie? The item doesn't say, but no doubt he's talking in a bass voice and shaving every morning. Yet it seems like only yesterday when those two kids were leading the pack in the Easter Monday egg hunts on the White House lawn.

Did You Know

Violins, clarinets and other musical instruments are now being made from the same transparent plastic used during World War II for bomber noses.

• • •

The revolution of the Sicilians in 1282 is called the "Sicilian Vespers" because it broke out at the hour of vespers on Easter Sunday.

• • •

Before World War II, only the United States and Russia had more railway mileage than Canada.

• • •

There is one mile of railroad in Canada for every 290 persons, and one mile for every 2500 persons, and one mile for every 500 persons in the United States.

Scanning the Record

By George E. Sokolsky

The Meaning of July Fourth to Americans.

AND so the fourth of July rolls on, too soon it would seem, considering that it was here not so very long ago. But the year has not been ill spent for the nation, since we have been at peace with all the world and most of our sons and daughters have been at home with us. That is a blessing, if naught else is in these days of too much government too high taxes.

On the Fourth of July, one thinks of the founding fathers, for the day is dedicated to them and to their Declaration of Independence which made of us a separate nation. This country was already a distinct civilization and that undoubtedly is why the fecund minds that met to proclaim our liberties knew precisely what to say. No other declaration of Independence seems to be so tremendously important for any other people. They rebel, they revolt, they proclaim. Ours was a joining of the different, a pulling together of the indifferent. Thirteen colonies, variously formed and governed, became a nation. They built a nation out of a civilization.

SOKOLSKY

Such characters as Washington, Jefferson, Madison, Franklin, the Adamses, Samuel and John, and all the others, were of a philosophy of life, namely, that the individual man possessed rights beyond the power of the state and that collectively men could choose those who governed them. The only divinity they knew was God, they could not accept the divine right of kings.

It was an innovation in western society for a people to choose their own government and when, eventually, the choice fell on George Washington, it was not to be a king, like George the Third, nor a dictator like Oliver Cromwell, but only as one who temporarily held authority in the state, limited and narrow, and who, after a stated tenure, retired to the gentle life of farming in Virginia.

Meaning of America

Of course, I am putting together in time and action the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States, but in essence they are of the same plant and rooted in the same soil of human liberty. The whole philosophy of the American civilization is the liberty of the individual person. Take away that concept and America has no meaning.

And so we have lived as a people 172 years, which is more than most states now constituting the United Nations can say of themselves. We are really, among modern nations, one of the oldest; yet, we have kept our youth principally by always recruiting new elements from among the nations of the earth, bringing in new strains, starting new generations at the bottom and leaving plenty of room at the top to make it possible for them to rise high. It is an amazingly successful experiment in the progress of man.

Some Diversions

True, we are at times diverted from our course. The fear of poverty and insecurity, two wars in one generation, entanglements in the affairs of European and Asiatic nations, mimicry and adulation among the intellectuals, the self-seeking of politicians who sacrifice the nation to retain power, the emphasis on majority and minority rights and the fierce, selfish articulation of pressure groups—these have, at times, diverted us from our course.

But so ingrained is the spirit of human liberty, so sure are we that no government can perpetuate itself, that we do, after each confusion, restore our way of life and keep it firmly. We clear the air of confusion from our stream and rechannel ourselves into the main flow. That we have been able to do this has been the great good fortune of our nation, for it explains why we have lasted as we are for 172 years without resorting to those violent trials and errors which have characterized European society.

And so in this year, 1948, we shall again perhaps change our administration but not our government. We may change the men but neither the ideals of life nor the philosophy of government. We shall make that change in peace, because we were soundly founded by good men. That is the essence of the Fourth of July.

Developing Synthetic Fuels

Research Marking Start of a Major Industry.

A GIANT synthetic liquid fuels industry now is in the embryo stage.

From the Rockies to the Appalachians, demonstration plants and laboratories are operating or being built. In time, say the government fuel men, the industry will be as big as any in the nation, turning out millions of barrels of fuel a day to supplement our shrinking petroleum supply.

Already two commercial plants are preparing to turn natural gas into liquid fuel and sell it at competitive market prices with no aid from the government.

The process is called gas synthesis. Natural gas is reacted with oxygen and steam. The process usually produces gasoline, an excellent Diesel fuel and a high yield of waxes.

At Rifle, Colo., an Interior Department demonstration plant has been producing 30 barrels of shale oil a day since last May. It is mining a rich shale which yields about 30 gallons of oil to the ton. The product is not sold, but is used for research and as fuel for the plant.

It has been found that mining shale costs only one-fourth to one-third as much as mining coal. A coal miner digs about 5 tons a day. A shale miner digs 25 tons, and later it is hoped to boost this to 50 tons. The reason is that shale can be mined in large "rooms" with no timbering. The rock is strong and will not collapse.

At Louisiana, Mo., the Interior Department will complete a demonstration plant this summer for the liquefaction of coal by a process known as hydrogenation. Hydrogen gas and coal are mixed under heavy pressure and at high temperature. This produces aviation gasoline and motor fuel of high octane value.

At Peoria, Ill., the Agriculture Department has been operating a plant since 1946 that converts agricultural residues into alcohol. It is planned to use this alcohol as a blend with other synthetic fuels.

Corncobs have been used with considerable success, yielding 60 to 75 gallons of alcohol a ton. It has been determined that from 250,00 to 350,000 tons of cobs are available each year in the vicinity of Peoria.

One process which is being studied with interest is gasification of coal underground, which would save the cost of mining. Promising results were obtained in an experiment with the process at Gorgas, Ala., in January, 1947. For 50 days, 236 tons of coal were burned in the pit. Air was forced into an opening to make the coal burn better, and the gas was caught as it emerged. The coal was found to have been completely gassified.

One of the most extensive private undertakings is a joint project of the Pittsburgh Consolidated Coal Co. and the Standard Oil Development Co. They are reported to be working on a process by which coal might be converted into both liquid fuel and gas.

Tito, Tough Guy of Balkans

THERE are parallels between the careers of Josef Stalin and Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito, now put on the spot by the Communist Cominform as a "deviationist."

Like Stalin, Tito is of peasant stock and like him he rose, sometimes by ruthless methods, to be a national leader. Tito's real name is Josip Broz. He adopted the common Croatian nickname as his by-line in the Communist press.

In his youth he was a metal-worker. Conscripted in World War I, he wound up as a prisoner in Russia. After the revolution he joined the Red Army and married a Russian woman. Returning to his homeland in 1921 well indoctrinated in Communist methods, he took charge of a metal-workers union. Seven years later he fell afoul of the monarchist Yugoslav government and went to prison for either 4 or 6 years. (The records don't agree.)

By the time the civil war broke in Spain, Tito, free again, was an active recruiter in the Balkans for the Spanish government's international brigade. At the time of the German invasion in 1941, Tito was secretary-general of Yugoslavia's Communists and he then became the leader of a portion of the partisan forces.

A rival force was led by Gen. Draja Mihailovic whom the Allies first supported. Later this support shifted to Tito. Mihailovic in a postwar trial was condemned as a Nazi collaborator.

Tito has been a vocal supporter of Russia. He issued many hostile statements against the western allies. In 1946 two American transport planes were shot down on Yugoslav soil. The Tito government paid $150,000 in indemnities for the lives of five Americans lost in the crashes.

Tito always had echoed Stalin in calling for Pan-Slavism, the ideal of long standing by which all Slav-speaking peoples would be united under one government. Somewhere along the line he talked out of turn or committed some misstep which has put him in the bad graces of the Kremlin.

Trend in Holidays

NEW YORK—The trend toward paid holidays for production workers "is evidently continuing," according to a survey of 100 union contracts by the National Industrial Conference Board.

In 78 of 100 contracts analyzed, pay is provided on holidays even though no work is performed. In the remaining 22 contracts, time off on holidays without pay is specified.

The fact that more than three-fourths of these recent agreements provide for paid holidays contrasts with holiday provisions studied in 1942, the analysis notes. "At that time," it says, "only a small number (approximately 15 per cent) of the agreements analyzed contained provisions for holidays with pay."

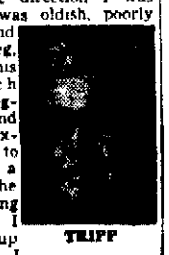
The Peg-Legged Rover

By Frank Tripp

THIS sort of commonplace story has a corny anti-climax, but it's true. It contains complete instructions on how to acquire a wooden leg, with a testimonial from one who knows.

On the outskirts of the Village of Horseheads stood a large-boned, rugged-faced man with a shabby little satchel in his hand. He had just stopped trudging northward, the direction I was driving. He was oldish, poorly clothed and wore a peg leg, strapped to his thigh, which made his progress slow and laborious. I expected him to thumb for a ride, which he didn't. Seeing he didn't I picked him up—a system I have with hitch-hikers.



TRIPP

It was with difficulty that he manipulated his peg as he climbed into the front seat. It stuck straight forward and rested on top of the heater. No—this isn't to be a story about a tramp's peg leg catching fire. It's another kind of yarn, with no startling point, however, there's a potential story like it in almost any city block.

My passenger was full of gratitude and expressed it in good taste. He was headed for Watkins Glen. He said, "I'd like to pay for my ride." I told him I was no common carrier and declined his unusual offer. "Oh, not with money," he protested. "I have no money but I sharpen lawnmowers, scissors and knives (he tapped his tiny tool kit). Perhaps you have a pocket knife or something with you."

I could think of a dull mower and a drawer full of knives that needed the services of this specialist but I hadn't them with me. It developed, in a conversation which I genuinely enjoyed, that my new acquaintance went from city to village and plied his craft on the rear steps of such householders as would give him work. Obviously he sharpened with files and whetstones, since his equipment and all his earthly belongings were tucked into the worn leather bag, no larger than many women carry—and always find inadequate.

"Have trouble getting along?" I asked then heard: "Well, yes and no. Suppose I should't complain, with all the misery and starvation there is in the world, but sometimes it's pretty tough going, has been the last few days. You see I can't get around very handy and a grinder with a real rig had been ahead of me everywhere I went. So I decided to move on." He chuckled merrily over his plight and added, almost in pride, "with gross assets of ten cents."

• • •

"Pardon me, my friend," I said, "you speak good English, have a sense of humor and a trait I admire above all others, gratitude. Would you mind telling me how you got that way, were you educated?"

"Oh, my no," he replied, "only in a country school, but I had a good home and a wonderful mother. She was educated in the seminary and had hoped I could go to college. She taught me to read good literature. That helped me a lot but I ended up just a husky farm hand—till I lost my leg; then I became a wandering edger of sharp tools and, to be honest, none too good a one."

"How did you lose your leg?" was my natural query. "Like many another fool may lose his," he said. Here's where my observation about any city block comes in—also the corny anti-climax. The itinerant philosopher spoke on:

"By paring a corn with a razor, drawing just a drop of blood and not taking care of it—say mister, this is Montour Falls isn't it; believe I'll stop off, give the town an edge and go on to Watkins later. Thanks for the ride. Good bye!"

Somehow I got a lift out of that penniless rover and thought I'd tell you about it. A drudging country mother tried hard to make a man out of him—and, by golly she did.

"Hyper-Inflation"

MARTIN R. GAINSBRUGH, economist, says a new nation "typer-inflation" is being pushed forward by American rearmament spending.

"In my opinion each dollar spent for rearmament in the months ahead will push us steadily away from the possibility of absorbing the unparalleled inflation of World War II toward a new sequence of hyper-inflation," he said.

Mr. Gainsbrugh is chief economist of the National Industrial Conference Board, a private research organization.

"Armament and foreign relief form a growing burden upon our economy rather than a profitable means of avoiding a depression," he says.

"With each passing month, rearmament will become the growing determinant of how materials and labor shall be allocated," he continues. "Initially this allocation will come through market forces, bringing with it the cost-induced elements of inflation. Later as increasing billions of dollars are paid out to consumers for the production of military goods, for which consumers cannot bid, growing elements of demand-induced inflation will be added.

"We were slowly approaching a price level under which we could live and remain both solvent and strong a few months ago. We now are embarked upon a new adventure with inflaiton which may not be so favorably resolved."

When you have read the Bible, you will know it is the word of God, because you will have found it the key to your own heart, your own happiness and your own duty.—Woodrow Wilson.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Letters for Special Delivery

HONORABLE HARRY TRUMAN,
President of the U.S.A.

Dear Mr. President:

To begin with let me say that I like you. I think you have been through one of the roughest rides in history and I am not sure anybody could have done much better, but all the pans show you are up against it. Hence, I think you would win a warm place in the affections of the people that would last all your life if you would release your delegates and in no way stand in the way of any choice the party might make at the coming voice throwing rodeo in the City of Unbrotherly Video Broadcasts.

PHILLIPS

A baseball pitcher does not kick if he is taken out to save the ball game, does he? The win is the important thing.

Everybody knows that you are not a quitter that you are no man to run from a fight and that you are a man of pride. They understand how you feel entitled to a second term and they don't blame you for that. But since there are so many signs that fate has rigged the chances against you, what a sportsman you would be if you came out with a statement that you put the Party first and that no personal feelings would lead you to put your own ambitions before it.

• • •

If you would say, "I am not a boss, a stubborn southpaw, or a man who scuttles ships. I would of course, like a second term in the White House. Who wouldn't? I think I have done a good job in a tough spot. But the important thing is that the Democratic Party get all the breaks in the coming election. I would rather go down into history as a President who sacrificed himself for the party than take even an outside chance of appearing in the ultimate boxwore as a fellow who had in any way cost it the ball game. Let the Democratic convention's conscience be its guide."

• • •

It is my hunch that these words or a reasonable facsimile thereof would stir the country and make you just about the most popular figure in American life as America's Number One Sportsman.

• • •

My own belief, Harry, is that you have never been hot for the presidency, that the White House is not your idea of a cosy residence and that your efforts to stick it out another four years are due only to a sense of duty. I think that what you loathe more than anything is the idea of quitting a battle. The people understand this. They know your good points. I know few people who would like to see you take a licking.

• • •

As Harry Truman, the President who stepped out rather than imperil his party's chances in any way you would be a bigger hit than Oklahoma. It could make you a bigger man than you have ever dreamed of being. Give it a thought. It can't do any harm.

Yours,
ELMER

Under Glass

By TRUMAN TWILL

For those of us who must wear glasses to see where we left the blamed things when we went to bed the night before, nothing is sillier than attempts to make glasses "fashionable." It strikes us, after lifelong dependence on cheaters, as the sheerest hypocrisy to pretend that a utilitarian necessity can be converted into an asset to anyone's appearance. Without stretching the point too far, we feel it would be as sensible to try to glamorize an artificial leg.

There's nothing we can do about it, except adjust our glasses impatiently and try to keep abreast of what's going on. For example, in a "spectacle of beauty" show in San Francisco, the manufacturers of eye glasses were right in there with the milliners and gown designers, showing what cheaters could do for a woman's face. (Note: Cheaters do nothing whatever for a man's face so no one worries about that.)

"Glasses," says the blurb, "should be worn boldly as a decorative part of one's ensemble." Among the samples were glasses featuring frames of lace in varying colors laminated between lucite to match pink, brown and black hats. No fooling, that's what it says here. The bifocals never tell a lie.

As was to be expected the mannequins who showed off the "spectacles of beauty" were gorgeous chunks of curves who would have looked yummy in gas masks and overalls, which brings us glasses wearers to the real point of our complaint about the whole silly business.

Glasses are the special burden of the homely—the hordes of human beings who would still be ugly if they had 20-20 vision and never had been obliged to clutter up their sour pans with contraptions to see how repulsive they were in the first place.

We have no pity to waste on beautiful people who wear glasses. They don't need it. In a pinch they can take off the things and look even better. But the rest of us only look worse as we squint weakly into the mirror trying to imagine that we are improved.

As we think of our troubles—perspiration, mashed potatoes, rain water, saddle sores on our ears and noses, dust and the constant fear of mislaying the blasted things or getting them broken under circumstances that would leave us half-blind at a time when we needed to know what was going on, such as a trip to a bathing beach or a musical comedy—it's enough to make us want to buy an extra pair just to jump on in futile fury.

Do your best—you birds who'd make eye glasses "a decorative part of one's ensemble." Do not mind the bitter laughter. It's from us who don't want to be decorated, never have and never will. We just want to be able to see without any glasses at all—and the less said about decoration the better.

On Canadian and U.S. railroads, a freight train and a passenger train start their run every five seconds of the day.

Mark of a Christian Patriot

A Sermonette

By DR. V. E. HOLLER

Pastor of Epworth Methodist Church

* * *

II Timothy 4:7: "I have kept the faith."

* * *

We are a great people. We admit this without too much humility and sometimes with an overabundance of pride and even some conceit. We are the mongrel of the best of all the lands and even some of the worst of all the lands that we are a great people. We point with pride to our Pilgrim ancestors, Plymouth rock, the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution of these United States of America, the emancipation proclamation, the liberty bell, the Stars and Stripes, we erect monuments at every cross road and if we had pail fences, we could say at every fence corner telling of the heroic accomplishments of our people. But sober reflections bring us up with a start. Our broad acres and our rich soil, our vast natural resources and abundance of acreage have set us apart as a people. We have been geographically long distances from other peoples of the world. Away from their bickerings and their quarrels and jealousies. But our vast natural resources are dwindling, our acreage is fast being absorbed and we are at the doors of all the world.

I. We dare make an appraisal of ourselves in the light of the modern scientific day in which we live.

This is not easy. We do not want to take an inventory of our accomplishments and weigh them against our responsibilities. We would like to say, "See what our hands and minds and hearts have created," and dislike to face what we are going to, with our own creation. We have cut the forests and built our homes and highways and schools and churches and our great cities. We can talk to the farthest reaches of our land in a few minutes of time. We can travel with ease and comfort all over our fine country. Our men of genius and creative ability have done more for us than all the other inventors and creators have done in millions of years. At least we have reason to so believe.

But the balance sheet is not overly heavy in our favor when we match all that was given to us by the Creator when our land was in the process of formation and how we have used this creation. Our soil is being eroded, used profligately, our gas and oil and coal are going up in smoke faster than we are able to recuperate and replenish and we are on the down grade with our resources. God has been better to us than we have been to ourselves.

A careful inventory will show some rather terrifying red lines against us. We use, abuse and throw away God's rich resources and forget to say "Thank you, God."

II. We need to appraise our present situation.

We want to be patriotic American citizens. We stand when the National Anthem is being sung, we salute when the flag goes by, we are ready to fight at the drop of our hats if some one does slander to the flag or the anthem. We hunt out the disloyal like the witch hunters of old and sometimes with about as much sense of fair play and justice. We must eradicate the really disloyal and send back to other shores the people who belong there.

But we have always had the discontents and the malcontents coming to our shores. Men and women fleeing from political and economic woes and tribulations. They have come by the millions and you cannot tell the difference between these and others who came for what might be deemed higher motives and more idealistic causes. And we thought nothing of their coming. We needed them, we wanted them, we accepted them.

What happened was this. The discontented caught a spirit that was so contagious that he could not escape it and he became a good citizen. Law abiding and turned his hands to toil and his heart and mind to make this a better place to live.

Are we afraid of our own living? Afraid of our own democracy? Afraid of our own ideas? Dare we expose them to all comers? Our fathers did and were not ashamed. Are we made of inferior stuff?

We dare appraise our own courage, our own stamina, appraise ourselves.

III. This leads me to say that the mark of the Christian patriot is 'keeping the faith."

Paul had something. He had something to live by, to die by and to proclaim to others.

We can keep the faith with the Mayflower Compact. We can keep the faith with the heroes whose blood was shed at Valley Forge. We can keep the faith with those who wrote and signed the Declaration of Independence, who brought forth the Constitution of these United States of America.

We can keep faith with the Emancipation Proclamation. We can keep faith with Washington, Jefferson, Jackson, Lincoln, Theodore Roosevelt, Woodrow Wilson, Frances E. Willard, Thomas A. Edison and scores of others we could name living and dead. But we dare to do some things.

DEWEYS ARE GREETED BY CHEERS. Cheers greet Gov and Mrs Thomas E. Dewey as they return in Albany, capital of New York for first time since governor was nominated for presidency at Republican national convention in Philadelphia. Dewey looks pleased.

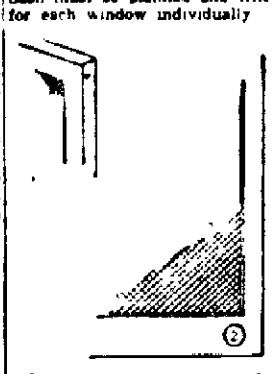
Making Sash and Screen Change Easier

One of the outstanding unpleasant jobs to be found around the average house is that of removing or putting up storm sash and screens. Not only does one set have to come down and be carried away to the storage place, but the other has to be put up immediately. Most home owners hate this chore above all others. As a rule the chief trouble with the job is that the screens or sash are not marked and as a result several frames must be tried before the proper fit is found. You may think that in a house which has seven or eight windows of one standard size, that any screen would fit but that is not the case. Screens and sash must be planned and fitted for each window individually.



When building was more leisurely and the workmen more careful the sash or screens would be fitted and then marked with Roman numerals by using a hammer and chisel on the edge of the frame as shown. Corresponding numbers would be engraved on the frame, so that the owner knew that screen VII belonged in the recess of window VII. Nevertheless a few coats of paint would soon obliterate one or more of the characters and the trial-and-error performance would be in order.

Every hardware store in the country sells sets of small round-head nails, much like the ordinary thumb-tack, and there are two tacks or nails of the same number. One nail is attached to the frame of the screen or sash and the other to the frame of the window assembly. By using these inexpensive items the home-owner can save hours of time and much labor and aggravation.

When the frames have to be painted or the house painted, a wipe of a cloth will clean off the surface of the buttons and leave the numbers legible. If the house is equipped with a full set of storm-sash as well as screens, you will require three buttons numbered alike, for each window. One is for the screens, one for the storm sash and one for the window frame.

BEAT WINTER NOW

Summer is the time to install fireproof mineral wool insulation full-thick in walls and roof of the house to save fuel next winter.

FIRST AID TO AILING HOUSE

—By ROGER C. WHITMAN—

Weatherbeaten Roof Shingles

Q. Our house has an old-type wooden shingle roof. The shingles do not look as if they had had any finish on them for a long time; they have a weatherbeaten worn look and I'm afraid that without any finish they will deteriorate rapidly. Can you suggest a good waterproof finish and an easy method of applying such a finish to a steep gabled roof?

A. Do not use paint on the roof for it would be unsuitable. You can treat the shingles with a good quality creosote shingle stain, to be had from a paint dealer. Or you can mix a shingle stain at home, using 4 gallons of raw linseed oil, 2 gallons of coal-tar creosote oil and 1 gallon of Japan drier. This can be tinted with color-in-oil, mixed with linseed oil to the consistency of paint. The creosote will give a rather dark color to the shingles. If you are unaccustomed to working on a roof I advise you to have an experienced workman do the job.

Cleaning Shellacked Knotty Pine

Q. Our front room is finished in knotty pine. It is very dirty. How can I clean and refinish it? All that's ever been put on it is one coat of clear shellac.

A. To clean the wood wipe it with cloth dampened with denatured alcohol. To refinish it you can either apply another coat of the same shellac, or else finish with several very thin coats of paste wax, letting each one dry hard, then polishing before applying the next one. An alternative would be to use one or two coats of clear, quick-drying varnish.

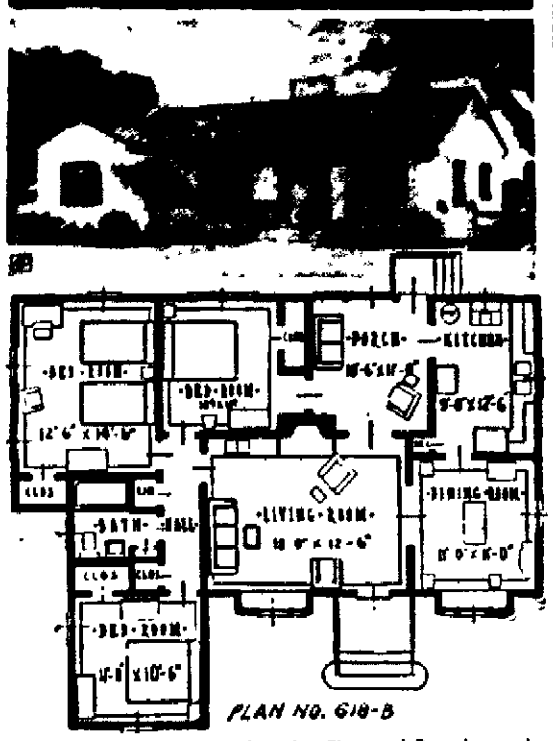
HOMES FOR AMERICANS



PLAN NO. 618-B

A built-in porch that can be left open or screened in summer and glass-enclosed in winter, is a feature of this small home with "big house" appeal. The porch opens from living room, kitchen and one of three bedrooms. This is Plan 618-B by the Small Home Plan Service, Shaw and Renneker architects, Box 2821 Woodlawn Station, Birmingham 6, Ala. It covers an area of 1266 square feet. The architects suggest an exterior of frame brick veneer or concrete blocks with a roof of composition shingles. Heat is supplied by two floor furnaces. No basement is required.

THE GARDEN CLINIC

By VICTOR H. RIES
Ohio State University Extension Floriculturist.

Q. I have three acres of yard and I plant a lot of flowers and use quite a lot of coarse sharp sand which I mix with the soil. At my place of business I have several cans of fly ash every week, like the sample enclosed, which is taken to the dump. This material seems to be nice and clean and sharp and I would like to know if I could use it instead of the sand.

A.: The material you sent is what I would consider cinders, since fly ash is a very fine powder. You could use large quantities of the cinders that you sent with beneficial results. You can put on a layer an inch to three inches thick and mix it by several spadings with the top 8 or 12 inches of your clay soil.

* * *

Q. Two years ago, after the foliage died, I dug, separated, and replanted immediately a great many daffodils. They have not bloomed since. In truth, they have not bloomed in five years. Perhaps I lack the proverbial "green thumb."

A.: Unless tulips and daffodils that have become too small to bloom are replanted in good soil with good growing conditions, they may not grow back to blooming size for a numbers of years, if ever. I have an idea that your difficulty is that the daffodils are not sufficiently well fertilized or in sufficiently well prepared soil to grow satisfactorily. I suggest that you follow the soil preparation recommendations in your home flower garden bulletin. You may obtain a copy from your county agricultural agent.

FUEL SHORTAGE LOOMS

Discomfort of severe fuel shortages now predicted by government officials for the next several years can be overcome by individual homeowners insulating their houses this summer installing weatherstrip and storm windows and making repairs to shut out all air-leaks. This will save up to one-half the fuel, while creating cool comfort in hot weather.

ERIE VIADUCT 100 YEARS OLD

Centennial Celebration Beginning Monday To Be Held at Historic Rail Bridge.

Special to The Star

SUSQUEHANNA, Pa July 3—An historic old stone bridge which has been carrying the main line of the Erie railroad over Starrucca Valley near here for 100 years, will be honored during a weeklong civic celebration next week

Completion of the Starrucca viaduct in 1848 enabled the builders of the Erie railroad to finish the rail link between the Great Lakes and the Atlantic ocean a few years later The Erie at that time was the longest railroad in the country

The Starrucca viaduct centennial July 5-10 will bring scores of notables to the area Gov James H. Duff of Pennsylvania will head an official party from Harrisburg to the opening day's program.

The area's importance as a farm center will be recognized on Tuesday, July 6, designated as agriculture day The state secretary of agriculture and other farm organization leaders will participate in the events.

Wednesday Is Erie Day

Robert E Woodruff, president of the Erie railroad, will be the principal speaker Wednesday, July 7 which has been listed as Erie day He will be accompanied to the centennial by a number of the railroad's official family

Mr Woodruff is expected to pay tribute to the builders of the bridge, many of whose descendants still live in the area Records show that more than 800 men were employed in constructing the bridge during the early months of 1848 They were engaged in quarrying the native Ashlar bluestone in the vicinity hauling it to the job and erecting the 1,200-foot bridge under the direction of James Kirkwood, a civil engineer Kirkwood undertook the project after three other contractors had failed, or gave up the task of building the viaduct

With its 18 arches, the 110-foot high bridge was considered the greatest work of its kind in the United States at the time of its completion It is still considered as a conspicuous example of that branch of engineering today

The bridge cost $320,000 and it was also considered the most expensive railroad bridge in the world at that time Its completion made it possible for the Erie to inaugurate service between the Hudson river and Binghamton before the end of the year The one hundredth anniversary of the coming of the railroad to Binghamton will be celebrated in that city in October

Diagnosis of Sinus Trouble Not Always Easy

INFLAMMATION of the sinuses has been called the great American headache because so many people seem to suffer from it

But even though sinus infection is so common, it is not always easy to diagnose, despite the fact that we have a number of different methods for this purpose at our command

Sometimes, of course, the diagnosis can be made on the basis of symptoms but, in many cases, this is not enough for certainty, and we must then turn to other methods One of these is known as transillumination The patient is seated in a darkened room and a light is shone through the sinus, the light will not pass through it

An inspection of the inside of the nose often will show pus coming from the infected sinuses

Neither of these methods is absolutely accurate Inspection of the nose and the presence of pus would make a diagnosis possible in about three out of four cases. The transillumination is only satisfactory in about one of three cases X-ray studies are helpful in about 90% of the cases.

Still another method of making a diagnosis is to irrigate the sinus with a salt solution The washing from the sinus will show the presence of infected material if sinus infection is present

The same procedure is also helpful in treatment For this purpose, the sinuses may be washed out either with a salt solution or with a solution of sulfathiazole or penicillin. It has been suggested, however, that the use of the salt solution is just as effective in bringing about a cure of the condition as are the sulfathiazol and penicillin preparations No matter what solution is employed, improvement usually occurs after two to four treatments

If the washing of the sinuses does not bring about improvement, some type of operation to establish permanent drainage may be required

Allergy or sensitivity seems to play a part in sinus infection Many patients with a sensitivity to dust or pollens develop a chronic nasal discharge, with swelling of the lining membrane of the nose. Of course, these things interfere with drainage from the sinuses and often are accompanied by a chronic sinus infection In such cases, treatment of the allergic condition also is necessary. Attempts should be made to find the substances to which the patient is sensitive and to avoid contact with them.

GAYLES PAYS, DIES IN OHIO PEN CHAIR

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS O, July 3—Clifford Gayles 34-year-old Xenia Negro, died in the Ohio penitentiary electric chair last night —almost two years to the day after his parole for another murder

Gayles paid with his life for the fatal beating of Mrs Edna Akdins 33 a Franklin O housewife during a day-long crime spree Aug 31, 1947

Gayles also fatally wounded Mrs Ollie Davidson, a Cleveland Negro the same day

He had been sentenced to a life term in 1934 for the slaying of a Cincinnati woman, and paroled in 1946

Intoning a prayer until the first surge of electricity passed through his body Gayles accepted death calmly He was accompanied to the death chamber by the prisoner's Catholic chaplain Rev C V Lucier

Prison Physician J C Eckstrom pronounced Gayles dead at 8:12 p m

Gayles had requested that his eyes be given to the New York City eye bank and minutes after his death two physicians removed them from his body They were flown to New York

Gayles was sentenced to death for the Adkins killing on May 28 The district court of appeals upheld the conviction and the state supreme court refused to review the case

Gayles first shot and stabbed Mrs Ollie Davidson Cleveland because she refused to permit her sister to accompany him on an automobile trip Mrs Davidson subsequently died

The sister Ada Davidson 17 was captured with Gayles in New Orleans a month later She is serving a life term in the the Marysville reformatory

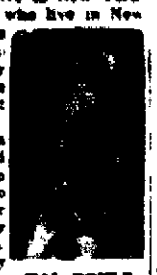
NEW YORK

SO you're coming to New York And you want to know where to go and what to do?

Well, relax The best headache is an open mind.

Whatever you want to see on a vacation is here in the great heart city of America—or within reach.

The trouble is that the people who come here to visit say they would hate to live in New York and the people who live in New York know it's a great place to dwell in but they sure would hate to have to visit.



HAL BOYLE

The folks from 48 states and many foreign countries who now call it their home are really nearer the truth New York City can be swallowed slowly by a lifetime of steady devotion But no rubbernecked tourist can know it by a quick gulping

So you can't expect to understand the greatest city in the history of mankind in a two-week vacation trip The best you can do is nibble at its grandeur

You can come here and see more for less money than any other city in the world Or you can come here and throw money away like a madman—and see no more than you can in two dozen cities throughout America

TO BEGIN WITH you don't have to have any feeling of awe about its celebrated night life The velvet rope you've heard about—the one that separates the sheep from the goats—is now largely a myth If your suit is pressed and your necktie is on straight, you can get into the Stork club about as quickly as a government agent.

The open sesame here is an open wallet Where a $20 bill won't get you I don't know I've never had any trouble with a $10 bill—when I had one

But the night clubs of Manhattan are like a thousand other night clubs throughout the land —mostly second-hand air piled with a cover charge

The real New York is a series of adjoining neighborhoods, each with a separate flavor that takes time and understanding to savor You can't know the place without a lot of walking around and a lot of talking with the people who live in and love this sprawling city

YOU CAN STROLL four blocks here, and it's as if you went from Maine to Florida, or from China to Naples

The best things cost nothing Like a walk up Fifth avenue the most queenly thoroughfare ever built by man For a dime you can still make the round trip ferry ride to Staten Island and see the green glory of the Statue of Liberty and a splendid view of the busiest harbor in the world

For a buck plus you can go up to the top of the Empire State building and see below you the wealth that Croesus never knew Or for the same money walk with a gilded male through Radio City the most novel real estate development since the Garden of Eden

Whatever you want in the wide world is somewhere here—everything but empty acres

You can beat yourself to death with your own pocketbook in this vast city and make no impression No man is rich enough to conquer it by his wealth, but it is still small enough for a poor man with character to build a remembering home.

IT IS THE EASIEST big city on the globe to get around in. A good man can walk around this fabled island in a day

And that is the best way to see it Just knock around, from street to storied street, and absorb it like an undiscriminating sponge

That is the only way to begin to know New York Nobody really knows it or ever will But you'll see more strange things and more strange people than you will ever afterward be able to remember or forget.

And don't fail to feed the pigeons. Some day they are going to inherit all this concrete.

Sure, you're a citizen. But how much of the time?
Think it over.
Sure, you vote—every four years, at least But where are you on Primary Day? You send your kids to school and you pay your taxes You know almost all the words to "The Star Spangled Banner" (the first verse, anyway) and you take off your hat when the 4th of July parade goes by.
But are you a citizen? Or are you just going along for the ride?
Think it over?
* * * *
Being a citizen—a full-time citizen—is no cinch It takes time, it takes courage, it takes vision It takes guts to be a full-time citizen.
But mister, today it takes more guts not to be. To let somebody else protect your birthright of freedom. To sit idly back under the growing shadow of ideas and isms that have no place in America—and do nothing about it.
If you're that brave—or that foolhardy —we're not talking to you.
But if you believe—really believe—in freedom and democracy, we're talking to you If you believe in your right to live and raise your children in decency and with dignity, to live with your head up as a free man in a nation of free men —then we're talking to you. If you're an American, we're talking to you
We're asking you a question—and telling you the answer.
* * * *
Have you got time to be a full time citizen?
Mister, you haven't got much time to be anything else!

SURVEYS CITIES ON AIR FEED LINES

Governor Takes Poll To Determine Positions.

Ohio cities are being polled by Governor Thomas J Herbert to see if they are still interested in obtaining feeder airline service The Associated Press reported from Columbus.

The dispatch reported the governor as saying he was writing city officials to find out if they were interested in obtaining a hearing before the civil aeronautics board. If so an attempt will be made to get the CAB to hear pleas of Ohio cities for air line service.

Governor Herbert the dispatch said pointed out that the CAB in previous hearings had granted the TWA system six cities He mentioned Findlay Lima Zanesville Springfield Mansfield and Marion But there are 20 cities in the state with 20 thousand population and 70 cities with 20 thousand or more any one of which might be added

Mayor Harry L Dowler reported today that no official information had yet been received by the mayor He pointed out that Marion had been granted trunk line service in addition to feeder service The latter service allows adding a city to main airline routes such as Columbus Cleveland Cincinnati would be of extraordinary importance to the service now granted Marion he said

X-Ray Spots Atomic Structure Analysis

By The United Press

CAMBRIDGE Mass — A new method of identifying minerals by X ray analysis of their atomic structure has been developed at Harvard University's Bermar Memorial laboratory

By the improved technique the laboratory within a year will have the world's most complete reference library of mineral photographs according to its directors

Identifications which formerly required several hours they say now can be done in a few minutes More important, rare and costly minerals no longer need be subjected to chemical tests which destroy the sample

Already on file are photographs of three-fourths of the 1 500 to 2 000 known materials The project has uncovered many identical minerals which had been given different names in the various parts of the world where they were found first Harvard scientists estimate there are about 15 000 such duplications.

PREVIEWS OF COMING ATTRACTIONS AT THE THEATERS

ANN SHERIDAN AND ERROL FLYNN, above, are co-starred in the production, "Silver River," a romance of the Old West, which is now playing through Thursday at the Ohio theater.

"The Emperor Waltz" At Palace Theater

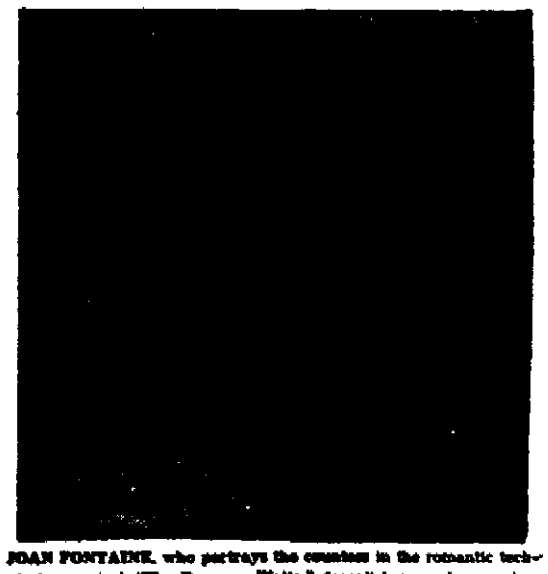
"The Emperor Waltz," Paramount's new technicolor gay and lyrical romantic comedy set against the splendor of the Austrian Alps and the court of Emperor Franz Josef, is now playing through next Thursday at the Palace theater having opened yesterday.

Starred in the production are the King of Song, Bing Crosby, and lovely Joan Fontaine, with Roland Culver, Lucile Watson, Richard Haydn and Harold Vermilyea heading the outstanding supporting cast.

"The Emperor Waltz," said to be the most lavish and elaborate to come out of the Paramount Studio since before the war, is set in the year 1901 in Vienna. It tells the romantic story of an American traveling salesman and a beautiful Austrian countess who are brought together by their dogs.

Bing Crosby is seen as a phonograph salesman who goes to Vienna to sell the newly invented phonograph to Emperor Franz Josef, played by Richard Haydn. His love affair with a countess, played by Joan Fontaine, rocks the Austrian capital. The salesman and the countess are brought together by their dogs—Bing's unaristocratic fox terrier and Joan's pedigreed French poodle. A good deal of hilarity arises in the development of the dogs' and their owners' respective romances.

In the film, Bing Crosby sings four songs and whistles one. The tunes are "The Emperor Waltz," "Friendly Mountains," "The Kiss in Your Eyes," "I Kiss Your Hand, Madame" and "The Whistler and His Dog."



JOAN FONTAINE, who portrays the countess in the romantic technicolor musical, "The Emperor Waltz," doesn't have a chance when Bing Crosby as the American traveling salesman sings to her in the film. The picture is playing through Thursday at the Palace theater.

"Silver River" At Ohio Theater

A story of man's conquest of the silver mines in Nevada prior to the establishment of law and order is told in Warner Bros. romance of the Old West, "Silver River," which co-stars Errol Flynn and Ann Sheridan. The film is now showing through Thursday at the Ohio theater.

"Silver River" tells of a soldier, cashiered out of the Union Army, who turns to gambling as a quick way to personal power. He achieves this in Silver City, and is soon the ranking figure in the entire town. He falls in love with Ann Sheridan, and when her husband who owned the Silver River mine, is killed by the Indians, he asks her to marry him. He is apparently happy as a married man until his old enemies set out to wreck his empire.

Opening next Friday to run for seven days will be the 20th Century Fox production, "Deep Waters," which co-stars Dana Andrews and Jean Peters, the girl who was discovered on the campus of Ohio State university and recently made her screen debut in "Captain From Castile."

"Deep Waters," adapted from Ruth Moore's best-selling novel, "Spoonhandle," was photographed on the fishing island of Vinalhaven, ten miles off the coast of Maine. Heading the supporting cast are Cesar Romero, Dean Stockwell and Anne Revere.

The film is concerned with the story of Hod Stillwell, a young lobster-fisherman who can't be torn from his life at sea, even for the love of Ann who insists he pursue a less dangerous means of earning a living. Complications set in with the appearance of an orphan boy who becomes Ann's charge. Danny, the boy, is inevitably attracted by the sea and he becomes the symbol of the conflict between Hod and Ann.

Race Horse Story At Drive-In Theater

"The Homestretch," a story of thrilling horse races, will be the attraction Sunday through Tuesday at the Marion Drive-In theater located on Route 23 two miles north of Marion. Photographed in technicolor, the production co-stars Cornel Wilde and Maureen O'Hara, with Helen Walker, James Gleason and Glenn Langan in featured parts.

Coming to the theater Wednesday for a two-day run is "The Macomber Affair," a story of hate and jealousy and of white emotions in the African jungle. Joan Bennett and Gregory Peck are starred with Robert Preston and Reginald Denny heading the supporting cast.

Friday and Saturday will be shown "Fun on a Weekend" starring Eddie Bracken and Priscilla Lane with Tom Conway, Allen Jenkins and Arthur Treacher.

The latest news and a color cartoon are shown with each billing.

Two Gang Dramas At Marion Theater

Two gang dramas, "Gangs of New York" and "Gangs of Chicago," re-released productions, will be shown Sunday and Monday at the Marion theater. The former stars Charles Bickford, Ann Dvorak and Paul Muni, and heading the cast in the latter is Lloyd Nolan.

"Gangs of New York" is the exciting story of the adventures of a detective who closely resembles an infamous mobster. He poses as the gangster while the latter is locked up in jail in order to obtain the necessary evidence to convict the entire gang.

"Tenth Avenue Angel," starring Margaret O'Brien, George Murphy and Angela Lansbury, and "Captain Boycott" with Stewart Granger and Kathleen Ryan, have been billed as the double feature for Tuesday through Thursday.

The former is the dramatic story of a little girl who creates a magic world of her own out of the humdrum atmosphere of a New York tenement district. The latter film is the story of Charles Cunningham Boycott, the tyrannical agent of an absentee landlord in County Mayo, Ireland, in 1880.

The double feature billed for Friday and Saturday is "Frontier Agent" starring Johnny Mack Brown and Raymond Hatton, and "Port Said" with Gloria Henry and William Bishop.

In "Port Said," a murderous woman-hunt is underway. Two murders occur and a third is plotted as the killer cunningly taking the place of a double, is about to pounce on his next victim.

Double Feature On State Bill

"Blondie in the Dough" starring Penny Singleton and Arthur Lake, and "Vigilantes Return" with Jon Hall and Margaret Lindsay, along with three color cartoons will be shown Sunday and Monday at the State theater.

Billed as a double feature for Tuesday and Wednesday are "It Happened in Brooklyn" and "Adventures of Don Coyote." The former stars Frank Sinatra and Jimmy Durante, and heading the cast in the latter are Richard Martin and Frances Rafferty.

Stage Being Set for Little Grand Circuit Opening Monday Night

Horses Moving In for Matinee Club's Harness Racing Program

By GEORGE SCOTT

The stage is being set for the curtain raising of the Marion harness races Monday night at the fairgrounds.

Already more than 150 horses have moved into stables near the half-mile dirt track. With the arrival of horses from Hilliard which closes tonight and other tracks in Ohio 400 pacers and trotters should be here Monday.

Betting booths have been built and temporary stands have been erected for the large crowd expected opening night. The stands have been painted white. Workmen are busy putting up partitions in fairground building to house the large number of horses expected today and tomorrow.

A press box has been completed and the track looks fast. Many of the horses are receiving workouts which will be intensified as opening night draws near.

The feature race of Monday's opener will be the Mayor Harry Dowler Inaugural 19 class pace for a purse of $1500. The race will be run in two separate dashes of 9:16 and a mile.

Track records for Marion's track are 2:03¼ for the one mile pace and 2:04¼ for a mile of trotting. These times are about equal to 29 miles an hour.

Eight events are scheduled for each night under the lights. Because of the over-flow horses track officials may extend the racing car to nine a night

The Matinee club, sponsor of the races, will open the racing season in Marion by holding a barbecue for horsemen, Matinee club members, and their guests. A crowd of more than 500 are expected.

In former years the Marion Little Grand Circuit harness races were sponsored by the Marion Trotting association.

The horses and drivers will put on a show every night except Sunday through July 24, starting at 8:15 p. m.

Columbus bunched four runs in the eighth inning to defeat St. Paul 4-1. Milwaukee lost 7-1 to Toledo as rookie Ralph Schwamb limited the Brews to seven spaced hits.

Dutch Meyer, purchased two days ago from Minneapolis, led Louisville to a 6-4 verdict over Kansas City.

VFW TO PLAY

Marion VFW will travel to Cardington for a game with the Cardington Merchants tomorrow to take part in the first game of a holiday double bill. Max Roseberry will get the nod for pitching duties with Harold Dillion billed for plate duty. Game time is 2 p. m.

GORDON'S 2 HOMERS WIN FOR INDIANS

By The Associated Press

ST. LOUIS, July 3 — Joe (Flash) Gordon's knack of hitting home runs still looks like pretty good strategy to the Cleveland Indians.

He hit Nos 14 and 15 last night as a case in point, both of them about 370 feet into the left field stand. Results: an 8 to 6 victory for the Indians over the St Louis Browns, and Cleveland stayed on top of the American league by a half-game

The first roundtripper came in the fifth inning with one aboard but it still left the Indians trailing, 5 to 4. So in the next inning he did the same thing and the Tribe stayed in front the rest of the way.

Shortstop-Manager Lou Boudreau used 17 of his available 24 players, five of them pitchers. Don Black, who got knocked out of the box in the first inning by a two-run St. Louis blast, Ed Klieman, Steve Gromek, Bob Lemon and Russ Christopher Klieman let the Browns have two more runs before the first inning ended.

Gromek finally got credit for the game, having pitched three scoreless innings until he was taken out in the eighth.

SPRINGFIELD TAKES 0-1 LEAGUE LEAD

By The Associated Press

Springfield's Giants perched atop the Ohio-Indiana baseball league once again today after weeks of chasing the Muncie Reds.

The Giants had to go 10 innings last night to gain the league lead, defeating the Lima Terriers, 6-5, while the skidding Reds were bowing to the Newark Yankees, 6-3

Muncie had held the lead for weeks, after taking over from the Giants, but along the stretch those pesky Yankees proved the edge. The improving Newark team took two straight in the present series to bring their record against the Reds to seven wins and four losses. Yet Newark is in fifth place, 7½ games out of first place.

In other league games last night, Marion defeated Portsmouth, 3-2, and Zanesville took Richmond, 6-3

The Giants had right fielder Bob Davis to thank for last night's win and the league lead Davis doubled in the 10th inning, sending the winning runs scampering home.

Muncie turned big hearted with Newark Ken Lanning, started Red pitcher, gave up 11 bases on balls and the ball game right along with them. The first five Newark runs were placed on base with walks.

The line scores:

Defending Champion Dodgers Hit Rock Bottom in League

By The Associated Press

There's no joy in Flatbush today. The once mighty Bums are in last place in the National league.

Manager Leppy Durocher's defending champion Brooklyn Dodgers hit rock bottom last night before 33,104 at Ebbets field.

The New York Giants applied the coup de grace, scoring three times in the ninth inning to take a 6-4 decision

Durocher, attempting to halt a five-game losing streak, inserted three catchers, and a rookie outfielder in the starting lineup

Catcher Bruce Edwards was at third, Gil Hodges at first and Roy Campanella behind the plate. Recruit George Shuba, up from Mobile of the Southern Association, was in left field.

Hits 3 Times

Campanella collected two singles and a double and scored twice, including a run in a two-run Dodger eighth inning that enabled the Brooks to take a 4-3 lead.

But then came the ninth. Willard Marshall opened the ninth with a homer off Rex Barney, third Brooklyn pitcher to tie the score Buddy Kerr followed with a single and moved to second on a sacrifice. Whitey Lockman was intentionally walked but Les Layton and Johnny Mize hit consecutive singles to score Kerr and Lockman with the deciding runs.

Moving past the Dodgers were the Chicago Cubs and the Cincinnati Reds. The Cubs moved from eighth to seventh and the Reds from seventh to sixth place as all major league teams played night games.

Chicago turned back the Pirates, 5-1, at Pittsburgh and the Reds handed the second-place St. Louis Cardinals their fourth straight defeat, 7-3, at Cincinnati.

The loss dropped the Cards three and a half games back of the front-running Boston Braves who beat the Phillies, 7-3, at Philadelphia.

Indians Retain Lead

The Cleveland Indians remained a half game ahead of the Philadelphia Athletics in the tight American league pennant race.

The Indians came from behind and beat the Browns, 8-6, at St. Louis with Joe Gordon's pair of two-run homers accounting for the triumph.

At Boston, the Athletics turned back the Red Sox, 4-2, behind the six-hit pitching of rookie Lou Brissie. It was the A's ninth win in their last 10 starts.

The third-place Yankees were nosed out, 2-1, in 12 innings by the Washington Senators in New York. Carden Gillenwater broke up a pitchers' duel between Walt Masterson and the Yanks' Tommy Byrne by crashing his first home run of the year in the 12th inning. Masterson yielded only three hits.

The victory moved the Senators over the Detroit Tigers into fifth place by a half game. The Tigers dropped a 5-2 decision to the White Sox in Chicago.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

Pitching—Walter Masterson, Senators—Allowed only three singles in 12 innings as Washington defeated New York, 2-1; struck out two and walked seven.

Batting—Joe Gordon, Indians—Hit his 14th and 15th home runs, each time with Manager Lou Boudreau on base, as Cleveland beat St. Louis, 8-6.

It's a Long Way From First to Third

By The Associated Press

DALLAS—Ever hear of a first baseman making a put-out at third base? No one around here had either until Bob Moyer of the Dallas club in the Texas League pulled it.

Here's how it happened:

San Antonio had runners on first and second and no outs Bill Sommers attempted to sacrifice The ball was a blooper toward third. Oscar Rhederian rushed in, trying for a shoestring catch. He missed by inches but grabbed the ball and wheeled toward third. The speedy Moyer, who had charged in with the bunt, saw Dee Sanders headed for third and raced to the bag in time to take Rhederian's throw for a force out.

REDS BEAT CARDS, HIT 3 HOME RUNS

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, July 3 — The Cincinnati Reds unlimbered their home run bats last night and, with the help of six St. Louis errors, trounced the Cardinals, 7-3 It was the Cards fourth straight loss.

The Rhinelanders made short work of starter Howie Pollet, chasing him with a four-run blast in the first inning Danny Litwiler's two-run homer was the big blow.

Johnny Wyrostek, Cincinnati center fielder clubbed his ninth homer of the season in the second frame and Grady Hatton did the same in the next round

Johnny Vander Meer, notching his fifth victory as against seven defeats, blanked the Cards until the fourth when Stan Musial limed his 18th homer over the right field screen. Another Cardinal scored in the inning on a walk, a single and a force out.

The Reds scored their final run in the fourth without the benefit of a hit. Catcher Dewey Williams walked and Vander Meer was safe at first on an error by Nippy Jones Another walk filled the bases and Williams came home as Benny Zientara hit into a double play

Harrison Leads Motor City Open

DETROIT, July 3 — E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, drawling "Arkansas Traveler" from Albuquerque, N. M., has been a sick man, but he's doing better today in more ways than one.

The 38-year-old Dutch, just recovering from a siege of virus-X, was all alone at the head of 60 survivors going into the final 36-holes of the $15,000 Motor City Open golf championship. And the way he's going, the rest of the boys will have to hustle to catch him.

His 36-hole score of 70-67—137 attested to that. It was five strokes under par of 35-36—71 for the two rounds over Meadowbrook Country club's hilly 6,616 yard course.

Right behind were Bobby Locke, Jim Turnesa, Chick Harbert and Johnny Palmer — all a single stroke away with 138.

A REAL VETERAN

Trainer L. M. Dunn, who has his stable quartered at the Urbana, Illinois, half-mile track, believes he is the oldest active trainer of trotters in the United States. It is a safe bet that Dunn is right because he is 85-years-old and tells friends, "I'm just getting off to a good start in harness racing."

Victory Is Alivojvodic's 10th; Marion Meets Lima Tonight

Special to The Star

PORTSMOUTH, July 3—Shortstop Don Schmitt doubled in the eighth inning to send in Manager Frank Kristie with the winning run here last night as the Marion Cubs split the series with the Portsmouth Athletics with a 3-to-2 victory.

Moore's error and scored on Bill Boldue's single.

Billy Flitcraft gained first on a fielder's choice in the fourth, stole second and scored on Forrest Rende's single. Rip Major put the A's ahead in the seventh on a single, a steal, Tom Gatts' error and a sneak home.

After two were out in the eighth, Gene Bohnsen walked, stole second and raced home on Kristie's single Schmitt then rapped out his double to center field to bring in the Cubs' new skipper with the deciding run

Al Romberger relieved Downey at this point, fanning two of the four men to face him. The loss was the second against no wins for Downey, who never has been able to go the distance

Herb McKenley Runs 400 Meters in :45.9

By The Associated Press

MILWAUKEE, July 3—Herb McKenley yesterday became the first man ever to better 46 seconds in the 400 meter run, a feat thought to be as far away as the four minute mile. And, what's more, the Jamaican promised to go all out to surpass his 45.9 seconds performance in today's senior division finals of the National A.A.U. outdoor championships at Marquette stadium.

Two ace hurlers, Harrison Dillard of Baldwin-Wallace and Clyde (Smackover) Scott, of Arkansas, qualified in the 110 meter hurdles—and the 100 meter dash. Dillard's time top both fields in the preliminary.

Gene Cole, the Lancaster, O., high school star, failed to qualify in a .47.8 quartermile heat.

3 WEEKEND GAMES BOOKED BY LEGION

Marion's American Legion Junior baseball team has an imposing series of three games booked for the holiday weekend—games that will either establish the locals as a power in the league or a second division outfit.

Today they'll journey to Mt Vernon to engage the Mounties in a rescheduled game that was washed out June 12 Sunday Coach "Ninny" Irvin's boys will trip to Delaware to meet the Humphries League team, and on Monday they will host Newark at Lincoln park at 1:30 p m. London, victorious over the locals, 8-5, in the only league contest for the locals to date now leads the league with an unmarred record of four straight wins.

Probable starting pitchers for the all-important series will be Jim Edington Saturday at Mt Vernon, Clyde Seedle at Delaware Sunday and Ronnie Larcom at Lincoln park against Newark Monday, Merle Daum, the Legion speedballer will be sidelined for several days, suffering from a knife wound to his throwing hand

Remainder of the lineup will consist of Setter behind the plate Jack Daum at first, Roseberry at second, Thomas at shortstop and Wolfe at third. Ledford, Staffer and Nickol will work the garden

OF THE sundry types of races that will be run on the Marion fairgrounds race track for 18 nights starting Monday probably the most common will be the class fied races — races which are arranged by a handicapper regardless of the eligibility of horses, which are grouped according to what they have shown in recent workouts or races. It is the handicapper's job to pick out horses that are on a par and place them in the same race The handicapper or racing secretary for the Marion meeting this year is John W Dailey, a short, rotund and ruddy gentleman whose roving brown eyes have seen many a harness horse race His name is an apt one for his profession for he has to keep up with the races daily to be able to judge what horse can do what among a string of as many as 500 or more

Dailey has been in the harness business most of his life He handicapped the races at Westbury N Y for a number of years set up the program at Northwood Mich, and was with the Maywood track in Chicago from its beginning four years ago until this year The Maywood outfit now operates the Northwood track and runs several sessions about the country, including Marion's and the one at Hilliards and Lebanon Ohio

THOUGH HE WON'T have that problem here, what with as many as 500 horses expected, Dailey recalls that he once had to keep a 19-day racing program going with as few as 36 horses That was at Northwood when the track first opened He shuffled and reshuffled the entries every night to have a varied program but finally had to shut the track down for a week or two to round up some more horses

Among the other classifications of races run in the harness spot are the class races, as the 2:2 class pace or the 17 class trot. A class race is one that is open to certain horses according to money winnings The more a horse has won, the lower his class A pacer that has not won $8 000 or more can be entered in a class 15 pace. A horse cannot be started in a slower class than his earnings indicate, but he can be started in a faster class

An overnight race is a common one in meetings such as the one here. That is a race for which the entries close 48 hours or less before the race An early closing purse race is one for a definite amount of money fixed in the published conditions and to which entries close at least six weeks preceding the first day of the meeting A stake race is one in which all nominating and starting fees are added to the purse.
